(AP)—A appeared to fishtail as it left a car packed in stretch of track. Passengers in the front car were not hurt.

The normal capacity of each unit was 66 passengers, but witnesses said the car was overcrowded.

"It was coming fast, probably because it was behind schedule," one witness said.

Describe Crash

A passenger in the forward car, Jose Ferreira, 43, told newsmen, "Suddenly I sensed the front car was rolling faster, lighter, as it left the curve."

He said he leaned out a door, looked back, and saw the rear car was rolling free.

"I jumped out, believing it would hit our car, and then I heard the smash," he said.

The train was returning from Povoa de Vazim, a popular beach in north Portugal, 18 miles from Oporto.

Blaring sirens of ambulances from Oporto and nearby communities blended with the terrified screams of women and children. Oporto radio stations appealed for doctors and blood donors. Volunteers lined up in rear unit front of hospitals.

13 Killed in State Traffic Over Weekend

1964 Toll Grows
To 580 Compared
With 453 Year Ago

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin highway accidents during the weekend claimed at least 13 lives and boosted the state's 1964 toll to 580, compared with 453 on this date last year.

Douglas McQuestion, 23, and Roy E. Dean, 30, both of Kenosha, were killed Sunday when the cars they were driving collided head-on on Highway 45 south of Eagle River in Vilas County. Both men were employed by the American Motors Corp.

A two-car collision on Highway 35 north of Prairie du Chien early Sunday killed Alice Sweeney, 35, of Dubuque, Iowa, and Dennis Toberman, 20, of Cassville. They were riding in different cars.

Madison Man Killed

Arthur Loughren, 44, of Madison, was killed Saturday night when he was struck by a car on a street near downtown Madison. The auto, after striking him, careened off the street and hit a parked car.

Ernest Somers, 58, of Plover, died in a Stevens Point hospital Saturday of injuries sustained in a two-car collision at the intersection of two rural roads about six miles south of Stevens Point. Mrs. Anna Aton, 64, a passenger in the other car, died in the crash.

Crash Near Fond du Lac

Marjorie Jackson, 33, Madison, was killed about midnight Sunday in a head-on collision on Highway 151 four miles west of Fond du Lac. The other driver, Lucinda R. Klatt, 23, of Campbell, was reported in serious condition in St. Agnes Hospital at Fond du Lac.

Fourteen-year-old Linda Koskella of Milwaukee died at St. Joseph's Hospital at Hartford Sunday night about an hour after she fell off the running board of a truck and was run over by the vehicle on the Salesville road, two and one-half miles from Hartford in Dodge County. Authorities said the accident occurred when the door of the truck, driven by Gerald Vaine of route 2, Hartford, came open.

Weekend victims previously reported included Ellisworth Dahke, 35, of Luxemburg, in Kewaunee County; Harry L. Caillouette, 53, of Fond du Lac; Gilbert R. Valentine, 24, of Glenview, Ill.; and Donald Weides, 22, of Evanston, Ill.

Could Get 20 Years and $11,000 Fine

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury deliberated for three days and found Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and six others guilty Sunday of a massive scheme to defraud the $200-million union pension fund.

Hoffa, a trustee of the pension fund, was convicted on four counts of fraud and conspiracy and faces 20 years in prison and an $11,000 fine.

Each codefendant was found guilty of at least one fraud charge and one of conspiracy.

The indictment included 30 mail fraud charges and one conspiracy charge.

The men specifically were convicted of fraudulently arranging more than $20 million in loans from the pension fund and diverting more than $1 million to their own use.

Kennedy Leads Jury

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy hailed the decision and complimented the jury and prosecutors in a statement from his summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass.

Hoffa faces a maximum sentence of $1,000 fine and two years on each of the fraud counts and $10,000 and five years on the conspiracy count.

"It stinks. It was a guessing game on the part of the jury," said Hoffa's attorney, Maurice Walsh. Hoffa refused to answer newsmen's questions.

The courtroom defeat may mean the end of Hoffa's reign as head of the Teamsters. Sources in Washington said his latest conviction could "begin to speed up the alliance making" among other top Teamsters officials.

ves Sought Gun Battle aukauna Man Allegedly rt in Detroit Incident

—one of slugged with a gun butt, but none of the others, including a policeman's wife and her three children, was injured, police in Detroit said.

A search was conducted throughout Detroit for the pair Saturday night. At 10 p.m. Michigan officials sent out an alert bulletin to Wisconsin authorities stating the pair were armed with two pistols and were considered dangerous.

May Have Returned

Wyngaard, who has used other names such as Wisneski and Justman, is described as 5 foot 9 inches tall with black hair. While in the Kaukauna area he was arrested for burglary, larceny and breaking and entry. He has served time in the Outagamie County jail, Green Bay Reformatory, Waukesha School for Boys and Wau-pun State Prison.

Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice said police authorities have been alerted to the possibility he may return to the Kaukauna area to hide out. There were unconfirmed reports Wyngaard was seen visiting in the Kaukauna area last year. His parents are believed to be living in the Detroit area.

Wyngaard and Prichard had been sought by Detroit police for armed robbery and were arrested last week in Los Angeles. They escaped custody of Detroit police Friday, robbed a supermarket and a gun shop before engaging in the gunfight.

President Conducts Group on Tour of White House Grounds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Approximately 200 tourists had an unexpected surprise Sunday—a tour of the White House grounds conducted by President Johnson.

After the Johnsons returned to the White House from church services, the President saw a group standing outside a gate of the White House grounds. He shook hands with some, then invited them into the grounds for a walk. About 100 tourists joined him.

Then he walked to another gate and invited about 100 more to join in the walk. After a stroll around the grounds, the President said he had to go to lunch and the tourists departed.

Race Tension At Rochester Quiets Down

BY ROBERT T. GRAY

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—This riot-scarred city emerged today from a bloody weekend of racial violence with four dead, in accidents. There were hundreds of injured and massive property damage. An uneasy peace was backed by a combat-ready force of National Guardsmen.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller activated 1,000 guardsmen and ordered them into Rochester to stand by for anti-riot duty if needed.

"Law and order will be maintained in the city of Rochester," the governor declared.

The detachment of 12 open trucks with 18 guardsmen each toured the city's trouble areas in a show of force shortly after the arrival of the guard Sunday night. The men carried rifles with bayonets fixed but had no ammunition.

Copter Crashes

Three persons were killed and a county official was injured critically Sunday when a helicopter surveying a potential trouble spot smashed into a three-story house and set it afire.

A man was killed by an automobile when he was struck during wild rioting Saturday night. In the height of the racial explosion, and staggered into the street. Two men were shot. One was in critical condition.

More than 600 persons, nearly all Negroes, were arrested. More than 300 other persons were injured, including 35 police officers and several firemen.

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP)—"I was worried some of the time, but I was never scared," said a 10-year-old city boy who survived eight days without food in a rugged wilderness area of Yosemite National Park.

"I thought someone would find me. I knew they were looking for me when I saw a helicopter fly overhead."

Once-chubby John Ireland Jr. of Los Angeles lived on water and his own body fat as he wandered in the mountainous terrain where night-time temperatures ranged in the high 30s.

Losses 15 Pounds

He lost 15 pounds during the ordeal—his weight dropped from 103 to 88—but doctors said his condition was good.

"It's amazing," said one doctor. "He had nothing but water. The boy is talking, and you'd hardly know he had taken a hike."

Young John wandered away from his family's trailer at Hard-en Lake campsite July 18 wearing only a thin T-shirt, jeans and leather shoes.

Rangers Gil Hall and Jim Reilly found him Saturday afternoon about three miles from the camp. About 350 men had joined in an air and ground search.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. when two cars collided with John Ireland had lost hope and such force engines of both were pushed back into the front seats. Two persons, one in each car, survived.

1-Party System Sought for Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta says he plans to move Kenya toward a one-party system.

Kenyatta returned Sunday from the African summit conference in Cairo and told a cheering rally that the one-party system makes for "faster national progress."

His Kenya African National Union—KANU—party has a 2-1 majority over the opposition Kenya African Democratic Union—KADU—in the National Assembly.

Martin Shikuku, organizing secretary of the KADU, said introduction of a one-party system would be the quickest way to create another Congo in Kenya.

second loss in six months. In February he was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000 at Chattanooga, Tenn., for attempting to bribe a jury. He has appealed that conviction.

The stocky union leader nervously paced the courtroom floor while waiting for the jury to return its verdict, but showed little outward emotion afterwards.

As he left the courtroom, he stopped briefly to console two women from the Teamsters office. "Sorry, sorry. We'll win yet," he said.

Jurors Isolated

The case went to the jury Friday after 13 weeks of testimony, and sparring between prosecution and defense.

It took two weeks for opposing attorneys to agree on the eight-man, four-woman jury. During the trial, the jurors were kept under lock and key at the Great Lakes Naval Base 30 miles north of Chicago and permitted only one monitored telephone call per day.

The U.S. District Court jury returned separate findings on 147 charges—21 naming each defendant. They had deliberated 17½ hours.

Clerk Gets Verdict

The heavily guarded courtroom hushed as the jury entered to read the verdicts. Hoffa sat rigidly in his chair, drumming his fingers on a table.

Earlier he had told a reporter: "It looks bad."

Jury foreman Walter Gogarty, a bank guard, handed the verdicts to clerk Roy Johnson, who slowly sorted and checked them. Finally he began to read.

Hoffa was the third name mentioned among those guilty.

The court erupted. Newsmen fled. Hoffa's son, James P., a law student at the University of Michigan, dashed from the courtroom. Obviously angered, he returned a few moments later, shoving a newsman out of his way while striding through the courtroom door.

How to Read Verdict

It took Johnson more than an hour to read the verdicts and poll the jurors.

Chief Prosecutor William O. Bittman jubilantly hailed the jury's findings. "It was an overwhelming case of fraud," he said.

Bittman, 32, said he was telephoned personal congratulations from Kennedy.

Judge Austin set Aug. 17 for rulings on motions made immediately by defense attorneys for arrest of judgment, a directed verdict of acquittal despite the jury's findings, or a new trial. He ruled the defendants could remain free under present bond arrangements until the hearings.

Walsh said he planned to appeal Hoffa's conviction.

One defendant, Benjamin Dranow, 36, a former Minneapolis businessman now serving a prison term for tax fraud, was returned to jail.

The government's conspiracy conviction resulted from its charge that Hoffa and the others schemed to rescue Hoffa from a failing investment in a real estate project near Orlando, Fla.

When the venture began to fail, the government contended, a plan to divert money from the pension fund was devised to bail out Hoffa and his home local, 299 in Detroit.

Besides Hoffa and Dranow, the defendants are: Samuel Hyman, Calvin Kovens and Abe I. Weinblatt of Miami Beach; Zachary Strate Jr. of New Orleans and S. George Burris of New York.

New Measures to be Announced Against Reds in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—New measures for stepping up the war against Communist guerrillas reportedly are nearly ready for announcement by the United States and Viet Nam. Sources said they do not involve expanding the war into North Viet Nam.

Prime Minister Nguyen Khanh of South Viet Nam is expected to announce the new measures next week.

Speculation on steps for bolstering the fight against the Communist guerrillas include these possibilities: sending more U.S. planes, increasing the U.S. training program and sending more U.S. military advisory forces.

2 U. S. Naval Planes Collide During Gale

HONOLULU (AP)—Two U.S. Navy ships collided and a third ran aground over the weekend, at Okinawa during gale winds from Typhoon Flossie, the Navy reported today.

There were no injuries to personnel, according to a spokesman.

Damage to the ships in the Saturday accidents was rated "not serious." No details were given.

The spokesman said the ships were in Buckner Bay when winds of about 50 miles an hour struck and the attack transport George Clymer collided with the amphibious ship Eldorado.

About 20 minutes later the high-speed transport Weiss broke out of her anchorage and went aground.

2 Soviet Soldiers Cross Over to West

BAD NEUSTADT, Germany (AP)—Two Soviet soldiers stationed in East Germany have crossed over to the West and are now in the hands of the U.S. Army, West German border officials disclosed today.

They said the two turned up at the border near here last Friday. Because the local border guards knew no Russian, they had trouble understanding exactly what the men wanted, although they understood them to be defectors.

The Bavarian border authorities said the U.S. Army was advised and immediately sent a car to pick up the two men.

Cyprus Suggested As Base for NATO

LONDON (AP)—Premier George Papandreu of Greece was reported here today to have suggested for Cyprus a North Atlantic Treaty Organization military base which would include a contingent of Turkish troops.

Papandreu was in London last week for talks with Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home. They discussed possible new solutions to end the Cyprus dispute on which U.N. mediation has now reached a stalemate.

The NATO base would be separate from the British bases at Akrotiri and Dhekelia, informants said.

Girl of 4 Rescued From Lake Michigan

SHEBOYGAN (AP)—A four-year-old Milwaukee area girl was rescued Sunday after floating a mile on Lake Michigan in a plastic inner tube. She was returned safely to her distraught parents who had organized a ground search for her in Terry Andrae State Park.

Little Dena McGrew was shivering with cold but otherwise O.K. as she was reunited with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Harold McGrew of Brown Deer, Sheboygan County authorities said the little girl and her parents were having a picnic in Terry Andrae park on the lake.

About 3 p.m., the child was spotted floating in the lake about three miles south of Sheboygan and about a mile north of the park. A group of unidentified boys rescued her and took her to the nearby summer home of Mrs. John Horan of Chicago, who called the sheriff's office.

Notice of Rubbish Collection Schedule

Citizens of Appleton are advised that effective August 3rd, 1964 residential rubbish collection schedules will be revised in accordance with the policy adopted by the Common Council.

Residential Rubbish Will Be Collected Once Every Two Weeks from Each Household

Rubbish may consist of glass, metal, plastics, paper, wood, and other material in the form of tin cans, furniture, boxes, cartons, bottles, ashes, grass clippings, brush, and other gardening debris.

Rubbish must be placed at the curb in the front of each household on the day designated for collection.

Grass clippings, gardening debris, brush, etc.

will be collected with the scheduled rubbish collection and will NOT be collected with the garbage as has been done in the past.

Notice of collection rules and schedules

are presently being distributed individually to each household. If you have not received your schedule by July 31st, please call the Sanitation Division at RE 3-4939.

Existing garbage collection schedules may be slightly modified in some individual cases. However, since garbage collections are made from the normal place of storage on private property, it is anticipated that these adjustments will be made with no inconvenience to the householder.

Violent Young Negroes Without Leaders in Forefront of Riots

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—An exhausted fireman, killed by heavy smoke was wheeled from a flaming house in Rochester's riot-stricken Negro section.

"He should have got burned up long ago," a Negro boy said. Here in the brilliant sunshine of a Sunday afternoon the boy and hundreds of other Negroes had watched a gruesome drama.

A helicopter being used to spot potential riot activity had hit the peaked gable of the frame house, fallen to the sidewalk, exploded and burned. The white pilot was killed. Two persons in the house, presumably Negroes, burned to death.

Sobbing Spectacle

For some in the crowd, the spectacle was sickening and sobering. They were mainly older people. A minister, a chef, a mechanic. But the young felt low-agers and men in their early 20s, shed no tears. Their attitude throughout rioting that began Friday night has been one of militant recklessness. There is a bravado to them—and the chill quality of boys who have begun to believe that life is a one way road to death and they are on it, put there by white men.

The role of young Negroes in Rochester parallels that of those who met police in hand-to-hand battle in Harlem and in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section.

"There's a don't care attitude about these boys," said Ernest Denny, a Negro social worker.

"They're saying to the white society, 'You're going to kill me, psychologically if I live, so why not kill me with bullets?'"

"The thing is that they are not afraid. These are brave boys."

"They have lost respect for authority," said Lt. Andrew Sparacino, head of the Rochester Police Department's youth division.

Boys and young men from the major Negro areas in town voiced bitter resentment of whites, especially of the police, and talked with a belligerent straightforwardness.

"Man, there ain't no cat going to frighten me," said a youth of 19. "They kicked that out of me when they kicked hell out of me one time when they hunted a Negro chief of the Air Force's Equal Employment Opportunity Office, said, 'If I were to try to do that and then used the clubs.'"

A boy of 14 who was a wrist wounder proudly said: "We are try to advise them in any way we can."

Flex Muscles The boys showed how willing they were to flex muscles Friday night. They scared But they old and old peoples get scared. I they were to flex muscles Friday night and I stayed out. I day night at the street dance didn't make it back home to when patrolmen Roger Bacon maybe 4 o'clock in the morning, and Anthony Carretto attempted to arrest a disorderly young man. "The boys feel the system is against them, and it is."

"We ended up on the ground with the guy, putting the cuffs on him," said Carretto. "The feelings, but one, a rather thin crowd wanted him and they got boy who looked like he could be a chorus dancer, said: 'It's like you're standing and across the pushed in to keep the head-way there is that store and the cuffed youth from being taken into the police station. It was this Whitley, or 'Whitley, he going to incident that started the riot give me a birthday suit, man'."

Sparacino, the youth division expert, knows by sight most of the city's juvenile delinquents and other young offenders.

"Doing it is knowing that the fuzz is coming. I mean any cat can reach in for a bunch a bar-said, 'these are kids I've never seen if the Girl Scouts is watch- seen before. They're not the ing, but the thing is, will you do usual juvenile delinquents. I don't know where they come just around the corner and com- from. I know one we got in a lag, good high school and another is an athlete in high school' scene or the chicks will put you 'It's the system they are down as nothin'. ### Caution Urged

Vapors Real Menace In Handling Gasoline

Gasoline — frequently used during the summer for many purposes—is a dangerous menace, as the 50,000 people who started home fires in 1963 mishandling it will agree.

Gasoline, or similar flammable liquids, is used as fuel for power motors and boats, as a cleaning solvent and for lighting fires.

While most persons recognize the danger of striking a match near the gas tank of a car, few are aware of the real danger of gasoline.

Gasoline's real menace is its vapor, the gaseous substance coming off gasoline which cannot be seen. Heavier than air, it is carried by air currents, and will explode upon contact with a flame.

Up to 200 Feet Vapor fumes have traveled up to 200 feet to reach an ignition source. Often they flash back along their path to cause an explosion at their source.

Because of the danger of vapor, safety authorities have formulated the following rules:

—Never use gasoline in the house. There is no way to guard against releasing vapor, once gasoline is exposed to air.

It is also impossible to guard against an ignition source. A —Don't store gasoline in the house. Vapor can expand and escape or blow up the can. Children may play with the gasoline, and accidentally set fires.

Safety Containers

—Don't store gasoline in glass containers. Service stations are not allowed to sell gasoline in such form because of the danger from dropping. Special safety containers are the best to use.

—Don't use gasoline to start fires. The fire may get off to a roaring start, but so can clothes, if the vapor rolls toward the person striking the match.

It is also important to remember never to add gasoline to sources of heat, such as glowing embers or a hot power mower engine. The explosive vapor forms a bridge between its source and the heat source.

The bridge is better left un-crossed.

a completely new kind of life insurance policy for young men from 15 to 35!

All in one policy!

When purchased at the younger age, it provides two, and then three times the amount of protection originally bought... during a period in life when a man needs it most... without any increase in premium at any time... and all in one policy.

No other insurance company offers this unique new "Parallel Protection" policy. It is available only from your Mutual Serviceman.

It fits your changing needs by providing expanding coverage

A young man's life insurance needs do change as he grows older.

He needs more insurance when he becomes married. He needs still more while he is raising a family. And he needs the income and security that only life insurance provides in retirement years.

Until now, to match life insurance protection to changing needs required the purchase of additional policies at different times in life.

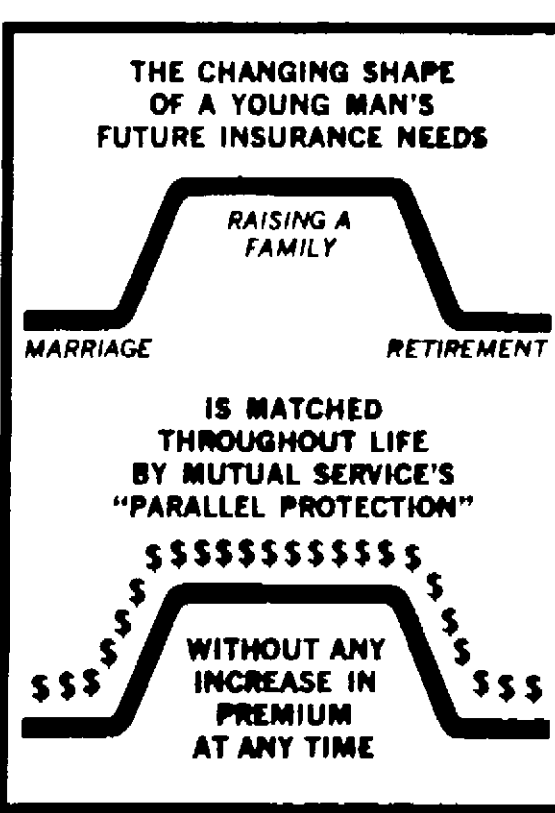

But now it can be done with one "Parallel Protection" policy from Mutual Service.

It is called "Parallel Protection" because the protection it provides automatically adjusts to closely parallel a young man's changing needs for life insurance in the years ahead.

The protection provided by this new policy begins to increase at age 22, doubles at 26, and triples at 31. It continues at this high level until age 46 and gradually returns to its original amount at age 55, where it remains for the life of the policy.

For example, if a $5,000 policy were purchased at age 21, it would provide $10,000 insurance at age 26, $15,000 at age 31 through 46, gradually returning to a $5,000 policy by age 55, and remain at that level for the life of the policy.

And it provides this maximum "peak-years" protection at no increase in premium!

It earns dividends, builds up a cash reserve, and offers waiver of premium. Including annual earned dividends, which are estimated but not guaranteed, each "Parallel Protection" policy builds up cash reserves.

These reserves can be used for emergency purposes or as a retirement fund in later years.

For example, a $5,000 policy purchased at age 21 can build up cash reserves of $618 after 10 years, $1,622 after 20 years, and a retirement fund of $5,229 at age 65.

Another valuable feature is waiver of premium in event of disability.

Should the policyowner become totally and permanently disabled, the premiums are automatically paid.

It is a wise investment for a young man concerned with his future security.

"Parallel Protection" was created by Mutual Service for the specific benefit of young men between the ages of 15 and 35. The sooner a policy is purchased, the more advantages there are to be gained.

For example, it's smart to take care of future insurance needs early in life when insurance costs are lower, insurability is better and it is easier to prepare a sound insurance program for the years ahead.

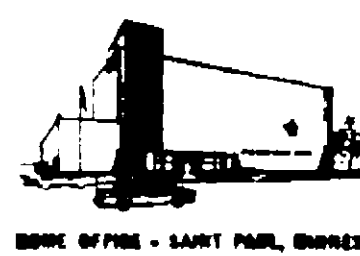

"Parallel Protection" also guarantees future protection regardless of future insurability.

A special note to Fathers

If you have a young son 15 or older, there is no finer gift you can give him than a new "Parallel Protection" life insurance policy.

The sooner a young man starts his life insurance program, the more secure his future will be. And whether he will soon be paying part, or all of the premium, insurance purchased early in life is always economical insurance.

Kippie Murphy's First Haircut

A Last Look at Hair her daughter could sit on was taken by her mother Mrs. Wilbur Murphy, before Kippie had her first haircut Wednesday. The hot weather had something to do with the decision to get a new hairo. At right Mrs. Murphy watches as Miss Pat Gonnering cuts a 23-inch switch which Kippie can use as she grows up to vary her hair style.

Mary Murphy got a new personality last week. She also got a new face... even a different walk, says her mother, Mrs. Wilbur Murphy, 1313 S. East St.

The transformation of Mary, known as Kippie to her friends, didn't take long. And it was pure delight all the way Kippie had her hair cut. It was a first for the nine and a half-year-old, soon to be in fourth grade at Sacred Heart School. When it was all over, she took home a switch of hair 23 inches long. Another four fell to the beauty shop floor.

Mrs. Murphy said she had wanted her daughter to have long hair, as she'd never had braids herself as a child. Then, when it did grow long, she was reluctant to have it cut. The idea was broached several times, especially during hot summer weather, but Dad balked too.

Were in Braid

Kippie usually wore her hair in a single braid, tied at the end with a ribbon. Occasionally it was divided into two braids, or around the house, pinned to the top of her head. It presented some problems, especially during swimming weather, when it had to be tucked into a bathing cap.

She Looks a Little Older than when she wore her long hair in a braid down her back, but Kippie Murphy has acquired a young and simple coiffure that brings out her features and is easy to care for. The youngster had the first hair cut of her nine and a half years Wednesday. She will be a fourth grade student at Sacred Heart Catholic School in the fall. (Post-Crescent Photos by Paul Herzfeldt)

All The Marvels of the beauty shop made Kippie Murphy feel pretty special at her first visit. She had a cut, styling and shampoo, and achieved a new look and personality for good measure. At right, she enjoys the admiring glances of neighbors who had long asked, "When are you getting your hair cut?"

Last week's seige of hot weather did the trick. The decision was made—and the appointment carried out almost immediately, leaving no time for second thoughts.

Kippie wasn't sure at first she'd like it, and she felt some anxiety as she faced the operator, Miss Pat Gonnering, and her scissors. But she found out, as all women eventually do, that beauty shops are great fun, and it's nice to be pampered over and indulged.

Her friends were waiting when she arrived home, eager to see what had happened to their playmate friend. They 'obed' and 'ahed' and approved.

A couple of times she's forgotten her 'new look', and bending over to tuck her braid into her swimming cap, found it not there.

She laughs.

Her mother and dad are pleased with their daughter's charming young coiffure, although they say it makes her look older.

Hot as it was, it was a pretty 'cool' week for Kippie.

TAFFY TIPS

By Dolly Martin

MAIL CALL

Dear Taffy:
I am just beginning to wear lipstick for the first time. Could you give me some tips on how to apply it so it looks neat and even? Should I use a brush? I have one but can't make a very good line with it.

Sincerely,
Trying

Dear Trying:
Keep trying to use the brush. This is one sure way to get a really smooth, even line. Or, you might try the pencil liner, which is quite new and most girls find it a little easier to use. When you outline your lips don't look down into a mirror, but hold the mirror straight in front of you. Start by resting your little finger against your chin, begin your brush stroke in the center of your lips... outline first one side, then the other, follow the natural lip line as near as possible. Now fill in the bottom line before you fill in all over. If you want to use a little over the lips and your lipstick darker shade to outline and then will stay on for hours and hours. your pale lipstick to fill in, this gives a lovely look. Blot with tissue and dust a little powder.

Keep happy,

Bed Jacket Described

If you've ever been ill, you know how wonderful it is to have a bed jacket that is not only pretty, but easy to slip into. Most of them are difficult to wear because of their narrow lette solves the capelette cape-problem.

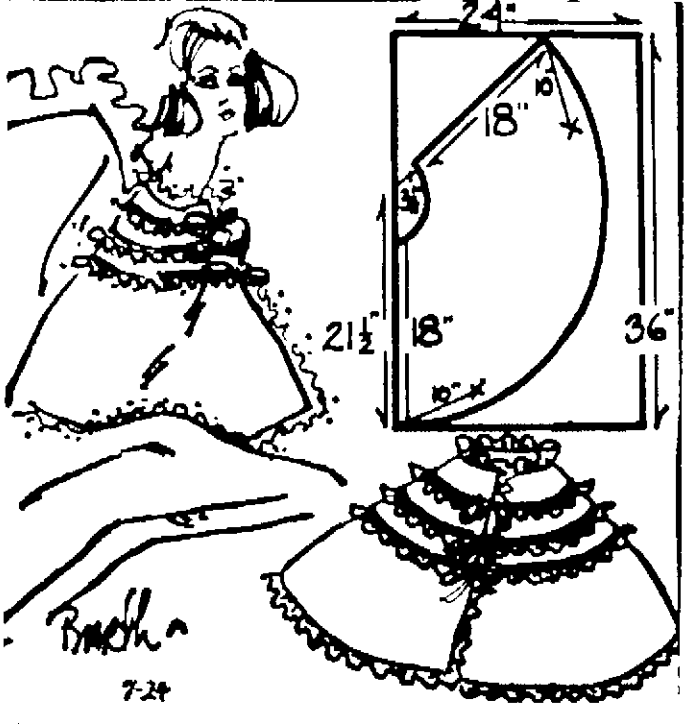

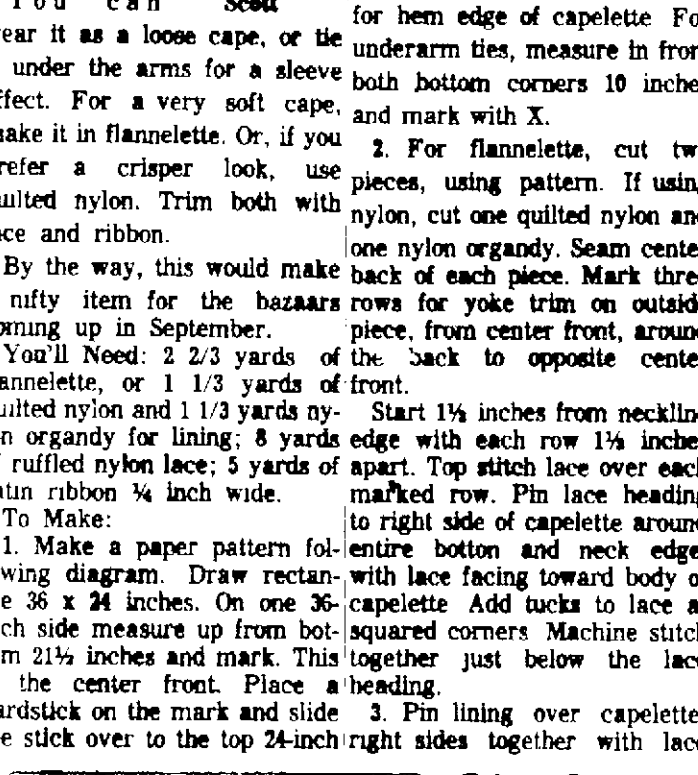

You can wear it as a loose cape, or tie it under the arms for a sleeve effect. For a very soft cape, make it in flannelette. Or, if you prefer a crisper look, use quilted nylon. Trim both with lace and ribbon.

By the way, this would make a nifty item for the bazaar coming up in September.

You'll Need: 2 2/3 yards of flannelette, or 1 1/3 yards of quilted nylon and 1 1/3 yards of ruffled nylon lace; 5 yards of satin ribbon 1/4 inch wide.

To Make:

1. Make a paper pattern following diagram. Draw rectangle 36 x 24 inches. On one 36-inch side measure up from bottom 2 1/4 inches and mark. This together just below the yardstick on the mark and slide 3. Pin lining over capelette, the stick over to the top 24-inch right sides together with lace

Bowling Party Scheduled by Church Group

Don Bosco Guild members have scheduled a crazy bowling party at 9 p.m. Saturday at 41 Bowl.

Splash parties have been planned for Aug. 6 and 20th at Meade Pool, with transportation furnished at 7 p.m. from St. Joseph School.

Silver Lake will be the setting Aug. 9 for the annual bowling picnic. The outing also includes a weiner roast and swimming. The group will leave at 10:30 a.m. from St. Joseph School.

The monthly meeting will begin at 8 p.m. Aug. 12 in the St. Joseph Cafeteria. The social hour will include card games and prizes.

between. Stitch over previous stitching line around neckline, fronts and bottom edge, leaving six inches open at bottom edge. Turn to right side through opening and slip-stitch opening closed.

4. Pin ribbon over lace heading of three rows on the yoke, leaving 10 inches free at each center front end for ties. Slip-stitch ribbon to capelette.
5. Securely tack four strips of ribbon, each four inches long, to the lining where you have marked with X. Tie strips of ribbon for sleeve effect.

For your copy of "Fifteen Gifts You Can Make," write to Patricia Scott in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling costs. ### Midsummer Madness

Ever heard of midsummer madness? You know a woman is palatable when she says, "I've gained weight but I refuse to worry about it until fall." You know a woman is palatable when she says, "I'm just going to relax and enjoy the summer." Really, it's the worst kind of folly to let your weight creep up unchecked, it soon reaches the dieting point. And slice of toasted enriched bread with whipped butter or dieter's jam. Menus can be varied by substituting cereal for toast, for instance, or two slices of broiled bacon for an egg. The invariable is using a sugar substitute in beverages.

The main course at luncheon consists of a delicious salad—cottage cheese with green pepper, tomato stuffed with mixed vegetables, chicken in aspic—bedded on a large portion of crisp lettuce. The only "must" is dieter's dressing. In addition to a salad, the menu includes chilled bouillon, melba toast and fresh fruit.

A typical breakfast is juice, an egg any style but fried, a slice of toasted enriched bread as long as you are spar-

Your Problems

Winner at Sports, Girl Losing Boy; Doubles Game Is Answer

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 20-year-old blonde who is all mixed up. My dad is a golf pro. I've been playing golf since I was six. I shoot a pretty spectacular game which is part of my problem. I can cream all the fellows in our crowd—including my steady guy.

Howie hates it when I beat him but I can't do less than my best when I get on the course. I beat Howie at tennis, too, which is rather embarrassing as he considers himself an expert and has taken lessons for years.

I'd like to marry Howie but he becomes so sulky and uncommunicative when he loses to me I wonder if we could have a good life together.

The guy has dozens of marvelous qualities and I'd hate to break up with him because of this one fault. What do you say?

—Three Under Par

Dear Three: Play doubles with Howie as your partner and make him look good instead of beating his brains out. No more head-on competition. When you win, you lose.

checking, or eavesdropping. Gossip tactics destroy confidence.

If a child feels his parents have a low opinion of him he will do his best to live down to it.

DEAR ANN: I'm a young woman who works in a building which has an elevator. I'm in and out of the elevator at least 10 times a day because part of my job is delivering dental material from the lab.

Is it considered poor manners for a man to get out of an elevator first when there are women behind him? Often I've been in the rear of the elevator and the men in front of me just stand there instead of getting out first.

Even when I say, "Excuse me, please," they still stand there—feet nailed to the floor. They apparently feel it is rude to walk out ahead of a woman. How about this? —Dixie

Dear Dixie: It is not impolite for a man to precede a woman out of an elevator. In fact, it makes no sense for a man to obstruct the doorway, waiting for a woman to make her way around him.

Good manners are common sense. The people by the door should walk out first—male or female.

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the baby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Velvet Suits For Men Seen On Fall Scene

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—There was fashion news for the men in Florence this week too—velvet suits for business and evening.

Several top Italian men's wear designers presented their new collections during the women's fall and winter fashion showings that ended here Thursday.

Velvet a Hit
The velvet suits, from Fromzoni, created the biggest stir. Although the fabric was far-out, styling was traditional.

There was a three-button bottle green number for the office and a two-button navy blue formal for the opera. The velvets were dull-surface, heavy weight cotton types with much the same feel as corduroy.

Fromzoni also used them for sports jackets worn with finely checked turtle-neck jersey pull-overs. The sports jackets came

California Home of Newlyweds

Miss Carolyn Ballet became the bride of Gary Victor Hoyman in a double ring ceremony at 11 a.m. Saturday. The Rev. Msgr. Adam A. Grill performed the rite at St. Mary Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edna F. Ballet, 603 S. Walnut St., and James H. Ballet, 508 S. Memorial Dr. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hoyman, Massillon, Ohio, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride chose Miss Kathryn Morneau to attend her as maid of honor. Acting as bridesmaids were Miss Susan Fulton and Miss Susan Sparhawk.

Serving as best man was Owen F. Ballet. Assisting as groomsmen were Thomas Overbeck and Michael McKelly.

A luncheon was served after the wedding at Butte des Morts Golf Club.

Mrs. Hoyman is a graduate of St. Mary Nursing School, Wausau. She attended the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and has been employed at Kaukuni Hospital, Honolulu, Hawaii.

Her husband attended Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, where he was affiliated with Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is employed as a manufacturing engineer for Litton Industries, Los Angeles, Calif.

The newlyweds will honeymoon in northern Wisconsin and will make their home in Los Angeles.

Fashionettes Golf League Tells Winners

Good fellowship was the day's event Friday when the Y Fashionettes played at Reid Municipal Golf Course.

Mrs. Craig Shambeau was good fellowship winner. Low net was scored by Mrs. Archie Johnson. Mrs. Shambeau scored low putts.

Mrs. Ben Zuleger made a birdie on the sixth hole.

Proper Buttoning
Specific instructions on how to button three-button suits were given by both Litrico and Brioni. For the country, button checked turtle-neck jersey pull-overs. The sports jackets came in black, garnet, and forest green.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months.

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Cool Air Drifting Along U. S. Coast Of Pacific Ocean
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A cool breath of air drifted along the Pacific Coast today, but the bulk of the nation began another week of uncomfortable hot weather.

The hot weather continued unabated in the southern Plains where temperatures pulsed in the 80s after another in a series of 100-degree days.

A recent temperature decrease combined with a lessening in humidity caused pleasant weather in the region of the Great Lakes.

Thunderstorm activity continued to blanket much of the nation.

Florida Disturbance
A disturbance crossed northern Florida to the Georgia coast, dropping additional rain. Cecil Air Station in Jacksonville, Fla., collected 13 inches in a six-hour span.

Desert thunderstorms which crossed the mountains Sunday and pounded Southern California coastal areas sent seven-foot breakers crashing onto beaches.

About 20 small craft were disabled. Unseasonal rain hit downtown Los Angeles. Flash floods rolled across parts of the desert.

Sandstorms whipped through inland areas and 14 persons were injured when five cars piled up near the California-Nevada border.

Smith 143 to 91 Treasurer Mrs. Althea Schuyler and secretary Woodrow Webster were re-elected without opposition.

Indian Group Election to Be Protested

ONEIDA, Wis. (AP) — A dispute over the use of absentee ballots has brought the promise of a protest in the re-election of Mrs. Irene Moore as chairman of the Oneida Indian Council.

Just before the voting ended at 6 p.m. Saturday, the ballots were brought in by Mrs. Moore, who became the council's first woman chairman when she was elected last year. The ballots gave her a four vote victory over Norbert Hill, 134 to 130.

Hill, who had led 120 to 11 until the absentee votes were counted, said he would protest the use of absentee ballots to the Bureau of Indian Affairs office at Ashland.

Lee McLester was re-elected vice chairman, defeating Ernest

Bus Accident Kills 19 Folk Dancers

EPINAL, France (AP)—A bus carrying a French folk dancing troupe crashed through a bridge guard rail and dropped 30 feet onto a railway track early today killing 19 persons and injuring eight.

The performers had taken part in a European folklore festival at Senones, in eastern France. They were returning to their homes in the Perigous region, on the Mediterranean coast.

WATCH THAT BASKET!

Mark Twain said it: "Put all your eggs in one basket and . . . WATCH THAT BASKET!" It makes sense . . . especially as applied to saving. When you save at Twin City Savings and Loan Association, you're in an excellent position to watch your basket of nest eggs. Twin City Savings' Annual Statement of Condition, issued on the last day of each year, tells you exactly what the Association's assets and liabilities are. Furthermore, each successive Annual Statement indicates improvement in the Association's over-all worth. It's comforting for Twin City's more than 9,000 savings members to note that the Association's assets now exceed $27,000,000.00, of which three million is in cash on hand, and in U. S. Government bonds and other sound investments. Twin City Savings' finance-wise officers do their job well. That's why the current earnings rate on savings is 4% per annum. It's a good plan to put all your eggs in one basket . . . if you choose the right basket! Why not stop in tomorrow?

Twin City Savings' new home, just one door east of the present location, is being built for you . . . keep your eye on progress!

Removing of Fish Local Obligation, State Agency Says

Statement to Keynote Meeting On Game Problems in Fox Valley

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — An educational conference soon to be held in the Fox River Valley will be keyed on the theme local health departments have a primary responsibility in dealing with the disposal of dead game fish periodically tossed up on the shores of recreational waters.

T. F. Wisniewski, director of the State Commission on Water Pollution, said his agency as well as the Department of Health and the State Conservation Department are beset with demands from riparian owners and others for state-directed fish clean-up work in such situations.

But the state law imposes explicit responsibility upon local health officers for such work and authorizes them to use local tax funds for the purpose, he said.

He said local health departments in the Fox Valley, including those on the east Green Bay shore and on Lake Winnebago where there have been problems of natural fish kills lately, have been told about their duties and now are acting upon their legal authority.

The conference of local officials to be held within a month will concentrate upon the causative factors of the dying fish. The complaint was lodged as a nuisance, he said.

Generally the problem results from an over-population of particular fish species, which brings about under-nourishment and weakness, and results in wholesale killing when there are abnormal strains upon the population.

Flood of Complaints

There has been a problem of alewife destruction in Green Bay resulting from recent temperature changes, and a vast killing of white bass occurred in Lake Winnebago in late spring as a result of spawning stress upon weakened white bass.

Wisniewski said state agencies have had a flood of complaints and demands for state-directed removal of the unpleasant fish carcasses.

"But we don't have the money or the staff, and anyway, there is a law that specifically directs the local health officers to take responsibility for such removal work," he said.

The Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission was one of those groups which questioned state action concerning disposal of dead game fish.

In a letter to state officials, the commission asked for a clarification of state law and perhaps possible revision of it.

The complaint was lodged as a result of the fish kill on Lake Winnebago.

Pair to Spend Month Voyageurs Returning With French Students

BY JACQUELINE FIX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

PARIS — Appleton has visited Paris and now Paris will visit Appleton.

Les Voyageurs first visit to France will become a two-way exchange when they return home today with two French students.

Regis Compere, 17-year-old son of Air Force pilot Andre Compere, Paris, will be guest of John Mummie and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mummie, until the end of August. Grace Barlow's French "sister," 20-year-old Odile Collombet, will spend a month with the John Barlow family.

Regis received an introduction to the manners and mores of American teenagers by joining them for the first three days of their 1,500 kilometer bus tour through Normandy, Brittany and the Loire Valley. He found them, he said, to be "tres sympathiques."

American teenagers are very different from French teenagers — more expansive, not so cold, Regis says.

His father learned of Les Voyageurs through the manager of Air France's Midwest office in the United States and arranged with Mrs. Kim Miller, Appleton High School French teacher in charge of the group, for Regis to return with them for a visit to America.

Compere pilots international flights to the United States and Canada. Tuesday he will fly the same Paris-Chicago jet flight the Voyageurs are taking today.

Regis probably will be the only teen-ager in Appleton who can say he has shot an elephant—the climax of a recent African safari. He also has traveled in England, Germany and Switzerland and plans to spend next Christmas in Argentina.

Travel to Maine

With the Mummies he will see much of the United States. He'll travel with the family to Maine August 17 to visit John's brother, Kim, for two weeks. The family will drive through part of Canada on the way.

While Regis is in Appleton he

Aware of Front-to-Back Testing

Testing of parallel front-to-back parking officially began today in the heart of Appleton's College Avenue business district.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said street-marking has been completed so motorists are aware of a new type of parking being tried.

The parallel stalls are 19 feet long and have an 8-foot maneuvering area at each end. Motorists have enough room to back in or drive straight into the parallel stalls, Wolff said.

Gov. Reynolds
Claims Action
Needed in County

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Gov. John Reynolds today directed principal state agencies to work out a 12-point program to attack what he called "the severe economic, educational and health problems of Menominee County."

Reynolds made public his program at a meeting of U. S. Government officials, members of the state legislature, Menominee County officers, tribal representatives, regional planners and state department heads.

"The Menominee problems have been studied enough. Now it is time to act," he said.

The governor directed principal state agency heads to take responsibility for the various proposals in the program and the state department of administration was given general responsibility for coordination. Administration department representatives have been in Menominee County for several weeks studying special community problems. Each state agency department was instructed to report on its progress within three weeks.

The governor said "It is incredible that there is not a single doctor practicing medicine in Menominee County." He ordered the state department of health to assign a staff physician to the county immediately.

The state banking department was asked to develop a plan to provide banking services for the people of the area and to study the possibilities of attracting ventures and investment capital.

The state conservation department was told to develop recommendations and plans for broader and better utilization of primary and secondary forest products in the county, to establish plans for a state park in the county, and to assist in the advertising and platting of lands for recreational development.

Wisconsin's Public Service Commission (PSC) has approved plans for installing automatic railroad crossing signals in connection with the proposed Washington-Franklin Street extension project. The case is pending.

On Dec. 20, 1963, the PSC gave the City of Appleton permission to establish a grade for the crossing and ordered the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. to submit plans and a cost estimate of the project.

Expected total cost of the signalization at the crossing of the tracks with Washington and Franklin streets will be $10-1500.

State Aid

The PSC's acting secretary, John Goetz of Madison, has notified Appleton officials the State Highway Commission would pay up to $5,500 of the expense for the signals but not more than 70 per cent of the total cost.

Remainder of the cost will be paid by the railroad.

City officials were under the impression it would cost Appleton from $5,000 to $8,000 for the signalization.

Decision Appealed

The PSC said when the signals are installed the railroad area at the same time should submit an itemized statement showing the actual cost of the installation.

A few months ago the railroad instituted an action in Dane County Circuit Court at Madison appealing the PSC decision which gave Appleton the go-ahead for the major street extension project. The case is pending.

Washington and Franklin streets will be joined, the latter extending west to Richmond Street. The city has obtained more than 15 pieces of property for the project and needs three more to complete the acquisition.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said today actual construction plans have been completed by the city engineering division. He said part of the proposed route for the street extension will need more fill.

Bues said grading and graveling of the new roadway will get underway soon and predicted actual paving will be done in 1965.

We will definitely have to let the graded area settle over the winter," Bues said. He added the area would have a seal coat.

Major sanitary sewer construction also is scheduled in the Franklin - Washington extension.

With regard to the pending Dane County court action, city officials say they intend to proceed with the project until or road instituted an action in Dane County Circuit Court at Madison appealing the PSC decision which gave Appleton the go-ahead for the major street extension project. The case is pending.

Chamber of Commerce Contacts U. S. Postal Department Officials

Another move is under way in Appleton to study the postal facilities and related problems, and to project plans for a new federal building.

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce have been in contact with the U. S. Postal Department, citing the need for a new facility here.

The post office, which has been bulging at the seams for years, is located on the southeast corner of Superior and Washington Streets.

In addition, several other small buildings are leased by the postal department to handle the local mail volume.

The Chamber board of directors has asked postal authorities to study the Appleton postal facilities and related problems, and to project plans for a new federal building.

The city is in the process of preparing a comprehensive plan and would like to know when and where the federal government intends to erect a new post office here.

"In addition to a congested quarters for a growing postal load," the Chamber said, "the federal government locally now houses six agencies in rented quarters."

Congressmen Contacted

Last year Wisconsin congressional delegation was contacted to see what the postal department plans are for building a new office in Appleton.

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) was in touch with the U. S. Postal Department and said there were no plans as such for a new building.

Proxmire suggested at the time that local officials contact the department and express the need for the new facility.

Appleton Teens Stilled During Visit To U. S. Graves at D-Day Beach

OMAHA BEACH, Normandy, France — Ghosts walks the waves and whisper on the breezes at Omaha Beach.

The Voyageurs heard and were stilled in their brief visit here Tuesday. They walked pensively some alone, through rows of white crosses and stars of David in the American cemetery above Omaha Beach.

History doesn't seem like history when you can say "my father fought here or my brother is buried here." But the immediacy and the significance of the history enacted here 20 years ago impressed the Appleton teen-agers not yet born when men of their fathers' generation fought here for their freedom.

More than 3,000 marchers in this young man's cemetery gave silent testimony to the preciousness of that heritage.

Special Memories

For Alice French, the visit brought special memories. Her father, Dr. George French, fought on Omaha Beach in the D-Day invasion which led to victory over Nazi Germany in World War II. His daughter, who remembers as a child, looking at war pictures with her father now has pictures to show him of the peaceful place the beach has become today.

Others, looking for no special name, wandered through the precision-straight rows of crosses, reading names from

Of Outagamie Council

Attempts are being made in the state to increase Wisconsin's gasoline tax despite the April referendum vote against it. It will be discussed Tuesday by Fred M. Elliott, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Petroleum Council, at the Outagamie County House Annex.

Addressing members of the council's county unit, Elliott also will speak about efforts being made to raid the highway fund for purposes allegedly unrelated to highways and at attempts to permit levy of local taxes on automobiles, according to Joseph Marston, county council chairman.

The meeting, which starts at 7 p.m., will cover a review of the interstate highway system and information regarding bill-board and interchange control. There also will be an election of county petroleum council officers.

Before visiting what the French call the "plages de débarquement," the Voyageurs began the second day of their bus tour in Bayeux, the first town liberated after D-Day but better known for its connection with another successful invasion.

There the Relne (queen) Maillarde, wife of William the Conqueror, stitched a tapestry telling the history of the years he fought to conquer England while she waited for his return.

The students saw the 70-meter long tapestry in its special museum, next to a cathedral dedicated in the 11th century under William's brother.

Leaving the cemetery they drove down the coast of Normandy past medieval towns to Mont St. Michel, the coastal island topped by a magnificent abbey. From the shore the island scarcely looks real.

The Appleton teen-agers were able to visit the abbey because of a friendly guide who likes

Vandals Give Auto Touch Of Lavender

MENASHA — A 1961 auto received a touch — or rather, a streak — of lavender over the weekend, Menasha police reported.

Police said vandals painted the lavender streak an inch and a half wide over the hood of the car, owned by Lawrence Baitinger, 632 State St. sometime between 9 a.m. Friday and noon Saturday.

Funeral Services for Boy Scout Jay Leekley Scheduled for Today

Funeral services for Jay T. Leekley, killed Friday when he ran into the path of a bus on the grounds of the Boy Scout Jamboree in Valley Forge Park, was to be held at 2 p.m. today at Wichmann Funeral Home.

Leekley, 15-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Leekley is survived by his parents, a brother and a sister, two grandmothers and two uncles.

Burial will be in Highland Memorial Park.

A memorial fund has been established for the Valley Council Boy Scouts of America.

WU-O to Add 95 to Faculty

OSHKOSH — Approximately 95 faculty members are expected to be added to the staff of Wisconsin University - Oshkosh this fall.

Dr. Robert C. Williams, Wisconsin State University - Whitewater co-ordinator of state college faculty recruitment, announced the figure in a recent report.

Williams, former president of WSU - Whitewater, interviewed 728 candidates at 30 universities in 20 states.

Nearly half of the new faculty members at the state schools are needed as replacements for teachers not returning for various reasons.

The others are needed to keep up with growing student bodies.

Loss of Sherwood Barn From Fire Averted When Girl Smells Smoke

Harrison Fire Departments Save Building; 200 Tons of Hay Lost by Joseph Smet

The alertness of a girl bringing home the cows for milking Saturday night prevented a 140-foot long barn on the Joseph Smet farm from being destroyed by fire caused by smoldering hay.

The six-year-old barn is located one-half mile northwest of here on State 114 and 55.

The two Town of Harrison Volunteer Fire Departments and many neighbors pitched in to remove the smoldering hay from the barn.

Firemen were called about 8:30 when one of the Smet girls noticed a charred spot on the ceiling of the barn and smelled burning hay.

The No. 1 department at Sherwood was called and Chief Norbert Holzschuh enlisted the help of the township's second department at Lake Park.

Firemen cut a 10 by 10 foot hole in the ceiling at the danger point and they then could see two large smoke holes in the hay.

The fire had smoldered through the floor of the haymow down to the ceiling of the barn. A small hole was cut into the south side of the barn, to enable firemen and equipment to get into the loft and push the charred hay onto the barn floor.

It was then blown with a hay blower through the north side

Skokie Police Hunt Thief of Girl's Body

Mutilated Corpse Found Abandoned In Evanston Alley

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP)—Police hunted today for a night-rambling ghoul who stole the body of a 14-year-old girl from its casket, then abandoned it slashed and naked in an alley.

The body of Theresa Koertgen was taken Saturday night from a Skokie funeral home by an intruder who broke in through a window.

Some 20 hours later, an Evanston motorist nearing his garage in the early hours saw the body in the alley behind his home.

Later Sunday, a long-sleeved yellow dress believed to be the one in which the girl had been laid out for burial was found in an alley on the north side of Chicago.

Capt. Edward Caulfield, head of the Skokie police force, described the crime, technically only a burglary, as "unbelievable in this day and age." The theft and mutilation of the corpse pointed to a demented man, he said.

Police questioned and cleared two men, one a 16-year-old acquaintance of the girl and the other a man seen loitering around the funeral parlor.

Theresa was the daughter of Leo Koertgen, an auto sales firm executive. She lived with her mother, Margaret, who was divorced from her father.

The girl died Wednesday in Skokie Valley Community Hospital after collapsing Tuesday in a Skokie swimming pool. An autopsy showed she died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

crashed in flames today in an unpopulated area about three miles west of downtown Lincoln.

Officials of the Lincoln Air Force Base where the six-engine craft was stationed said there was no weapon aboard the craft.

The crash area was to the south of the main runway at the base.

Names of the four men aboard were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Competition in the Recent Pet contest on McKinley Playground was, to say the least, slight. Albert Boots and Kathy Craft, the only contestants, shared all the awards. Paint Still Wet

Monument, Auto Hit By Vandals in Menasha

MENASHA—In 1884, the women's clubs of Menasha erected a monument to mark the landing of the first white man's visit to Menasha.

In 1961, an automobile was manufactured by General Motors and subsequently sold to a Menasha resident.

Both have something in common. They were defaced with paint over the weekend.

Fourteen years after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock, Jean Nicolet visited Menasha. His landing is permanently recorded by a monument and tablet at the intersection of Keyes and Cleveland Streets.

The tablet reads: "Near this spot, in 1634, landed the first white man in Wisconsin. Jean Nicolet met the Winnebago Tribe and held the earliest White Council with 1,000 savages."

The tablet was defaced with aluminum paint which was still wet Monday morning.

The hood of the 1961 Buick, owned by Lawrence Basting, 632 State St., received a streak of lavender paint on each end a half wide some-time between 8 a.m. Friday and noon Saturday.

Oshkosh, Appleton Motorists Involved In Menasha Accident

MENASHA—Property damage estimated at $800 resulted from a traffic mishap involving cars driven by Appleton and Oshkosh men at 1:35 p.m. Sunday.

An estimated crowd of 175,000 viewed the parade.

Conductor Russell Gilligan said the band played well in stiff competition. The only disappointment, if there was any, was a personal one. "I had promised them if they placed third or better they could throw me into the swimming pool."

The 60-member band also took one of the five $50 cash awards during the barnstorming festivities Friday night. Performing in a sweltering evening temperature of 80-plus degrees, the band found itself in the winning spotlight at 10:30 p.m.

4 Terrorized In Cottage by Chicago Youth

Jailed in Oconto After Capture by Deputies Sunday

Post-Crescent News Service

OCONTO—An 18-year-old Chicago youth, accused of terrorizing four persons in a cottage in northern Oconto County and forcing one of them to accompany him on a 50-mile ride into Forest County, was captured early Sunday near Laona.

The youth, Ralph MacEwen, was jailed at Oconto. He was to be charged this morning, possibly with kidnapping.

Oconto County Undersheriff Rupert Haave said the incident happened Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tower of Milwaukee, who have a cottage at Bagley Rapids on the Oconto River near Mountain, told authorities the youth entered the cottage about 10 p.m. They said he was carrying a rifle and long bladed knife.

Ordered to Sit

The Towers said the youth ordered them, their nine-year-old daughter Kathy, and Ray Kirsten, Green Bay, who was visiting, to sit on the davenport. Kirsten, who lives at 314 Bonnie Court, was vacationing in the area. Haave said the Towers told him the youth ordered Mrs. Tower to cook him some food. He sat at a table with the rifle pointed at the others.

Haave said the youth notched the ends of some loose cartridges with the knife and told the Towers to put their daughter to bed because he didn't want her to see anything. He kept saying midnight was the deadline, but did not explain.

Near midnight, he announced Haave said he started to run but he was going to Wyoming and stopped after a warning shot would take Mrs. Tower as a was fired. He was captured hostage. Tower asked the youth about 3:30 a.m.

1,800 Expected for WU-O Orientation

Incoming Students To Report Sept. 10 For 3-Day Session

OSHKOSH—An expected 1,800 new students at Wisconsin State University-Oshosh will be participating in the three-day schedule of orientation, entertainment and preparation slated to open Sept. 10.

Freshmen students are expected to check into residence halls Sept. 9 in preparation for the orientation meetings. Oshkosh churches are cooperating in special programs for new students Sept. 13.

New students whose last names fall in the "A to F" category are to pay fees and draw text books 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 10.

A general session for all students follows on Sept. 10 from 9 a.m. to 10:15 a.m., including a welcome by President Roger E. Guiles and discussions of student services by university staff members. Other meetings on Sept. 10 deal with campus organizations, fee payments by to take him instead of his wife and offered the use of his car.

Taken at Gunpoint

Around midnight, the youth took Tower at Gunpoint from the cottage and forced Tower to drive him into Forest County.

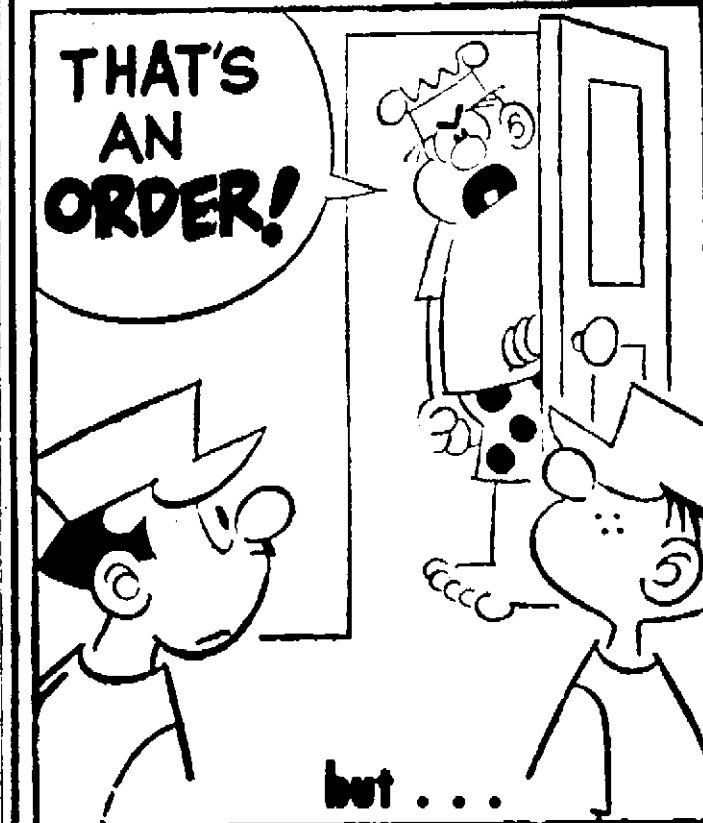

After they left, Kirsten went in a boat downstream to find a tele-ranger. He notified the Oconto County sheriff's office about 12:15 a.m. Haave notified Forest County authorities and joined three carloads of deputies in the search.

Tower said the youth stopped the car north of Laona, got out and told Tower to return home.

MacEwen was found hiding behind a service station between Laona and Crandon.

Haave said he started to run but he was going to Wyoming and stopped after a warning shot would take Mrs. Tower as a was fired. He was captured hostage. Tower asked the youth about 3:30 a.m.

Jingo Recalls Earlier Appleton Circus Sites

Beatty-Cole Bros. Tent Show Setting Up
Tuesday morning on Midway Road Grounds

BY JINGO

Circuses always have been a colorful part of Appleton's history ever since the first tiny wagon show parked its horse-drawn paraphernalia and pitched its tents on the nearest available field.

Circus day tomorrow should be a big one for the Fox Cities area because the one major show still under canvas — the circus in the old-fashioned tradition of the "big top" — will be coming to town. It's the Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus which will set up its tents, side shows and motorized wagons on a new circus grounds just west of the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center on Midway Road.

Most Fox Cities residents remember well the recent circus lots in town, the one on Highway 47 last year, the one before that on Ballard Road and back one more to the south side area of the present Valley Fair Shopping center.

There are many who can remember back to the many years the circus used to come to the Badger Street grounds, across the street from Appleton High School. The last big parade of the Cole Bros. Circus, about 25 years ago, started from that grounds.

It takes a real old-timer, however, who can remember back to those "good old days" of the State Street circus grounds. This was way back in an earlier Appleton day. Wisconsin Avenue was known as Second Avenue and split rail fences lined the north side of the avenue, broken here and there with a frame house.

Named For Street
The circus grounds stretched across the present State Street, hence giving it the common name by which it was known for years.

Back in the 1870s and 1880s, circus day was an event that drew thousands of people from several counties into town. Farm folk joined the city people in jamming the dusty streets of the growing Appleton to follow the liting pipings of the steam calliope from parade to circus grounds.

Newspapers of that day reported that between 15,000 and 20,000 people used to jam the parade routes to watch the gaily painted wagons with their burdens of wild beasts, clowns and bands. Bespangled and jeweled performers rode by on horseback or atop freshly scrubbed and decorated elephants.

Way, way back, when the circus with the most animals drew the greatest crowds, it was said the circus folk themselves liked to include the cities and town edging Lake Winnebago on their route. It meant a welcome stop beside the lake and a general wash-up, including the animals themselves which were let out of their cages for a frolic in the lake water.

Circus Buffs
Circus buffs of yesterday thronged the grounds at set-up time. It was a thrill to watch the elephants help the show people set up the tents. It's still a great show to watch the huge

Bears' Willie Galimore and Farrington Killed in Crash

Star Back's Auto Skids On Curve

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP)—The sports world was stunned today in the wake of a caroming auto crash which killed Chicago Bears' star halfback Willie Galimore and his teammate, John Farrington.

Galimore, a seven-year veteran who was drafted from Florida A&M University in 1936, and Farrington, a 6-foot-3, 217-pound offensive spread end, were killed in the wreckage of Galimore's car late Sunday night on a rural road.

State police said Galimore and Farrington apparently were returning to their living quarters at St. Joseph College when Galimore's car skidded out of control on a curve.

Police said the car went off the road and overturned, throwing

Braves' Bats Boom In 11-7, 15-10 Wins Over New York

Rico Carty, Hank Aaron Each Blasts Two Homers in Sweep

NEW YORK (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves were back in the thick of the National League race today after sweeping a doubleheader from the New York Mets in an afternoon of baseball that produced 63 hits and 43 runs.

Milwaukee came from behind twice Sunday and scored victories of 11-7 and 15-10. The winner in both contests was reliever Chi Chi Olivo, who took his first major league triumph.

The sweep put the Braves in fifth place, 6½ games behind front running Philadelphia and three games in back of the Reds, who open a three-game series against Milwaukee tonight at County Stadium.

Big bats were the key to Milwaukee's victories and the loudest sounding wood came from Rico Carty, Hank Aaron, Lee Maye and Denny Menke.

Carty, the Braves' rookie outfielder, lashed five hits and drove in eight runs in the two games while Aaron contributed six hits and six RBIs. Maye and Menke added five hits each.

The first game was an uphill battle after New York shelled Warren Spahn from the mound in the second inning. However, the 43-year-old southpaw pitched the last two innings of the nightcap and gave up only one hit in his second relief appearance of the season.

Spahn gave up five hits and five runs in his brief appearance in the opener, including homers to Hickman and pitcher Al Jackson. That marked the 12th time in his last 13 starts that he has failed to finish.

Aaron singled across the go ahead run for the Braves in the eighth inning of the first game. Joe Torre got three hits, including a ninth inning homer.

Brief Meloe
The Braves erupted for three runs in the first inning of the nightcap which also saw a brief meloe at home plate after Mets hurler Frank Lary hit Maye with a pitch.

Maye got up slowly and then started toward the mound when New York's Chris Cannizzaro tried to restrain him.

That brought both benches to their feet and in the case of Carty it brought a square hit to Cannizzaro's jaw.

After the Mets came back with two runs in the second and fourth Milwaukee sent Lary to 343.

Before he became a professional baseball player, Carty was an amateur fighter in the Dominican Republic. He couldn't understand why he had to train so many weeks for one bout, but he did it anyway. He did it so well, in fact, that he won his first 17 fights.

His career, however, came to an abrupt end.

Maye Hit by Pitch
"One time I lost, and I don't like to lose," he explained. Carty didn't lose Sunday when he briefly rediscovered his fondness for fistcuffs. His New York debut—a few miles from Madison Square Garden—came a few minutes after the nightcap started.

Milwaukee's Denis Menke led off the game with a homer against Frank Lary. Lee Maye, the next batter, was hit with a 343.

Packers Waive Rookie Back And Center

Squad Cut to 58 As Second Week Of Drills Starts

BY ART DALEY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — The Packers roster was reduced to 58 players—34 veterans and 24 rookies—today with the waiving of two free agents.

Center Larry Sagoupe of Southern California, and defensive halfback John Humphreys of Syracuse, have been dispatched. Coach Vince Lombardi announced as the Packers launched their second full week of practice this morning.

Sagoupe had been the only offensive center playing behind veteran Bob Skoronski. To give Skoronski some relief, Dave Crossan, who started training as a center, has been switched back from guard. Crossan is a free agent by way of Maryland.

Humphreys was one of five rookie defensive backs in camp. The others are Doug Hart, a member of the last squad here last year; Beau Carter of Fresno State; Larry Hunter of Grambling; and Joe Scarpati of North Carolina State.

The Packers now have 19 rookies in camp along with 34 veterans. Five other first-year men are in the college all star camp—offensive back Dennis Claridge of Nebraska, defensive halfback Duke Carlisle of Texas, center Ken Bowman of Wisconsin, tackle Lloyd Voss of Nebraska, and fullback—linebacker Tommy Crutcher of Texas Christian.

The Key Week
This is the key week for the rookies, and they'll likely get plenty of chance to display their wares. Some contact is scheduled every day, and the week will be topped off with the annual squad game in City Stadium Saturday night.

Ten of the in-camp rookies are on offense—quarterback Merv Holland; ends Gary Kroder, Tom Brown, Tom O'Grady and Bob Long; running back Dwain Bean; interior linemen John McDowell, Steve Wright, Jack Mauro and Crossan.

Defensive rookies here are linemen Jack Petersen and John Baker; linebackers Turnley Todd, Gene Breen and Ron Boguski; and defense backs Hart, Scarpati, Carter and Hunter.

Sunday was picture day and no formal practice was held, although Lionel Aldridge, while waiting to get "shot," hit the charging sled a few times. Incidentally, Aldridge's number has been changed from 62 to 63. Henry Urban is wearing a new number too, 70. He wore 63 last year.

The Bays were back at work in shorts this morning and returning after fighting the flu was Max McGee, who was bedded down all day Saturday. Bob Long and Tom Brown played McGee's left end spot during the scrimmage Saturday afternoon.

Burt Fires 3-Hit Shutout in Finals; Radtke Socks Homer

Artie Burt fired a 3-bitter as Bleier's Bar rolled to a 3-0 victory over Milward Golfland, Green Bay, for the championship of the Fox Valley Invitational Softball Tournament at Telulah Field Sunday night.

But blazed third strikes past six Green Bay batsmen and walked only one. Tom Lemor made was the losing pitcher. Burt won the most valuable pitcher honors of the tournament.

Claude Radtke led the Bleier plate attack with a home run. Ray Heleritz had three hits in four trips and Tom Grishaber chipped in with a triple. Bud Koehnke added a pair of hits.

Fran P'zha collected two hits for Milward's and Bill Burt accounted for the third.

Wertsch Motors, Oshkosh, won the consolation honors with a 7-4 win over Milt's 6th of Green Bay. Dick Wahlgren fanned a one-hitter for Wertsch's.

Tom Duex led the way at the plate for Oshkosh with a homer and triple in three trips. Don Lehman added a circuit blow.

Strikes Out 5
Ron Dart mustered the only hit off Wahlgren. Wahlgren fanned five and walked three. Fred Fels was tagged with the loss.

Bleier's eliminated Wertsch's in the semi-finals, 4-3. Bob Deiner twirled a 7-hitter. Ray Heleritz was 3-for-4. "Skip" Koehnke drove in the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning.

Milward's ousted Milt's, 8-4, in the semi-finals. Jerry Hudson homered for the winners. Lemorande pitched a 4-hitter.

The tourney's most valuable player trophy went to Bob Diener of Bleier's. Ray Heleritz won the best batting average trophy.

Proposed Shift To Atlanta Fails To Materialize

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The football Cardinals are not going to migrate South next fall—after deciding their grounds are best in St. Louis.

Charles and Bill Bidwill, president and vice president of the National Football League team, made the formal announcement Sunday in a joint statement at St. Louis. Charles Bidwill made an announcement at the Cardinal training camp in Lake Forest, Ill., while his brother read the statement in St. Louis.

The Associated Press learned last Friday the club had decided to stay.

The brothers said they had reached an agreement on a 30-year lease early Sunday after a meeting with Civic Center Redevelopment Corp.

"We expect to sign the lease within 30 days," said Bill Bidwill.

The announcement ended months of speculation that the team might move to Atlanta. A new stadium under construction there would be finished in 1965.

St. Louis' riverfront stadium is not scheduled for completion until 1966. Civic Center is the prime backer for the St. Louis stadium.

The Foxes hiked the lead to 7-0 in the third on a bunt single by Matias, a double by Fred Rico, a pair of Quad Cities errors and Huntz' double to the center field wall.

In the fourth inning, Lewandowski walked, stole second and made third on an error on May's grounder. Rico walked to fill the bases and Huntz singled for home. Lewandowski and May agreement.

The Angels scored in the first of the fourth on singles by Jim Tokas and Chuck Vinson and a 2-run double by Pete Gongola.

Rick Reichardt singled twice for the Angels after fanning his first two trips to the plate. One of his singles was an infield chopper which he legged out.

Al Besselink, Sam Carmichael Tie for Second

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—It was Ken Venturi Day today in San Francisco, home of the popular U.S. Open golf champion.

But before flying off to the city by the Golden Gate, the 35-year-old Venturi with the white beard had quite a day for himself Sunday in the Insurance City Open.

Picture it. There was the National Open king, heading for victory like a man out for a walk. All he had to do was par the 71st and 72nd holes. Suddenly his game collapsed.

Venturi got a bogey on the 71st and a double bogey for a six on the 72nd, amazing the crowd of more than 18,000 as well as himself. He was left with a 273 total, 11 under par.

That set it up for the cliff-hanging finale. Sam Carmichael, 25, a sophomore PGA tourist, and veteran Al Besselink, playing behind Venturi, knew what they had to do to take what they had to do to win.

But Sam missed an 11-foot putt that he had to sink to win. Bessie's bold pitch to the green and possible victory rolled to the apron, forcing him to take two more shots and a bogey five.

Besselink, Carmichael, Paul Bondeson, 25, and Jimmy Grant, a 22-year-old amateur from the home club—Weathersfield—had to settle for a four-way tie for runner-up.

Ironically, the only greens Venturi missed Sunday were the final two. "But I learned something out there," he said. "I played the 72nd too safe. I tried to make a par on a bogey. I'll never do it again."

While Venturi flew to the Pacific Coast for a parade in his honor and a brief vacation, his first since winning the National Open more than a month ago.

Most of the other pros headed for the Canadian Open that starts Thursday at St. Luc. Bobby Nichols, the PGA champion, shot a 279, worth $622.

Slammin' Sam Snead and J. Schiavo of Madison and Sam Klausner of Cudahy tied for third with 197. Defending champion Wallace Scharr of Alma had 196.

Gene Durant of Waukesha won the double title, breaking 91 of 100 targets and then winning a shootout with Charles Rahr of Oshkosh.

Betty Duebner of Milwaukee won the women's doubles crown with 82 of 100 targets.

Stuckert Downs Chuck Bleckinger For Net Title

JANESVILLE (AP)—Veteran Bobby Stuckert, Wisconsin's No. 1 ranked tennis player, was expected to three sets Sunday before defeating young Chuck Bleckinger of Oshkosh in the Janesville open tennis tournament. The scores were 1-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Bleckinger, a Tulane University team member, and his partner, Wayne Peacock of Wauwatosa, won the men's doubles event with an 8-6, 6-1 victory over Tom Oberlin of Waukesha and Ed Foster of Niles, Mich.

Olavo finally came in and put out the uprising after Bob Sadowski, Bob Tiefenauer and Bill Hoeft proved ineffective.

Milwaukee countered with a four-run outburst of its own in the eighth, scoring two runs on Maye's single, the tying run on Carly's ground out and the lead tally on a single by Torre.

Braves clinched the contest in the four-run ninth as the Braves clinched the contest.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee's 3-1 victory over the New York Yankees Sunday night was the first of a three-game sweep.

Court Affirms Legality of Sections of Civil Rights Bill

Panel Fails to Define Law's Application to Restaurants

BY DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Decisions handed down by a federal court removed any question about the Civil Rights Act covering hotels and motels but failed to define the limits of the law's application to restaurants.

In the first tests of the law, the three-judge court held:

1. Congress was within its power in enacting the public accommodations sections, under the Interstate Commerce Clause of the Constitution.
2. That Section 201 expressly covers all hotels, motels or other places with more than five rooms providing lodging for transient guests—thus excluding only places housing permanent guests or with five rooms or less for rent.
3. That the Pickrick Restaurant in Atlanta and other restaurants of "sufficiently similar" circumstances come within the provisions of the law.
4. That decisions on whether a restaurant is in the affected class "must be made on the circumstances of each case."

Issued Injunctions

The court issued injunctions Wednesday against the Pickrick and the Heart of Atlanta Motel operating on a segregated basis, but delayed the effective date until Aug. 11 to allow appeals to the Supreme Court for final adjudication of the issues.

The basic attack on the law in each case was its constitutionality. Attorneys for both the motel and the restaurant contended Congress had exceeded its power to regulate commerce "among the several states"—as the Constitution provides.

Different issues were raised as to application of the law since the sections on hotels and restaurants are different in language.

In the Heart of Atlanta controversy, the motel brought suit against Atty. Gen. Robert G. Kennedy to block enforcement of the law as unconstitutional. Damages of $11 million were asked on a claim that compliance would mean the taking of private property without just compensation.

Damages Claim

The court held the damage claim was without merit and, in any event, should have been taken to the federal claims court.

"The real question," the court said, "is whether Section 201 is constitutional."

In upholding the law, the court relied on a Supreme Court decision which held: "The power of Congress over interstate commerce is not confined to the regulation of commerce among the states. It extends to those activities intrastate which so affect interstate commerce or the exercise of the power of Congress over it as to make regulation of them appropriate means to the attainment of a legitimate end—the exercise of the grant of power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce."

Direct Leasing

Of direct bearing, the court cited a July 10, 1964, ruling involving the same motel. In that decision, the court held the motel's operations were in the stream of commerce and "in any event such operations affect commerce so as to subject it to congressional regulation under the Sherman Antitrust Act."

Other precedents cited on the constitutional issue included rulings on the National Labor Relations Board jurisdiction and the wage and hour laws.

"It is clear," the court said, "that the attack by the complainant on the constitutionality of these sections of the Civil Rights Act must fail."

A permanent injunction was issued against the motel, since no issues remained in dispute—the full case had been heard.

Suit Filed

In the Pickrick Restaurant case, three Negroes filed suit against the restaurant and its owner, Lester Maddox, after they were chased from the place by Maddox and a crowd of whites July 3. The Justice Department joined in the suit.

Here, the court had to decide if one of two conditions obtained as specified in the new law. These conditions are:

1. Serving or offering to serve interstate travelers.
2. A substantial portion of the food which it serves or gasoline or other products which it sells has moved in commerce.

They argued that goods purchased by the restaurant no longer were in commerce and that racial segregation had no adverse effect on interstate commerce; therefore, could not be reached by congressional act.

Entering a temporary injunction against the Pickrick, the court again disposed of the constitutional issue on the same precedents, plus some others, given in the motel case.

Key Question

A key question, the court said, was whether it was irrational for Congress to conclude "that the prevention of racial discrimination in such otherwise local businesses is also within its re-whether the controlling opinion made this interpretation. It is the question lawyers will be arguing about if the Supreme Court affirms the decision.

If the decision means that a restaurant which gets 80 to 75 per cent of its goods through interstate commerce—as does the Pickrick—is covered by the law, then few if any would be exempt.

Hooper said even restaurants in the backwoods get a substantial portion of their food through interstate commerce. But he said his own opinion was that in order for the law to extend to all restaurants "there must be some showing that the discrimination does in fact affect commerce."

In their majority opinion, Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals and U.S. Dist. Judge Lewis R. Morgan carefully emphasized: "It should be made plain that this substantial portion is a very substantial figure in annual volume. The restaurant has annual gross receipts from its operations of over $500,000 for the last year, and its purchases of food exceeded $250,000."

Nowhere did the opinion define "substantial portion."

But the possibly wide scope of the law and the opinion was outlined by the third member of the court, U.S. Dist. Judge Frank A. Hooper, in a special concurring opinion—which actually was a partial dissent.

Hooper agreed that the Pickrick came within the provisions of the act if for no other reason than an offer to serve interstate travelers by virtue of its location on a major route and its sign "directing all travelers to the restaurant."

But he viewed the majority opinion as holding, in effect, "that segregation in this particular restaurant affects commerce because of the fact that a substantial portion of the food which it serves has moved in commerce."

Business Regulation

Hooper conceded the power of Congress to regulate businesses on interstate routes or even throughways over which interstate traffic may pass.

But he said "if, however, the Miss Sheboygan Beauty Pageant of Title II (i.e., 'has eant, a two-hour parade and a moved in commerce') is given a literal interpretation, . . . this the Ralph Marterie orchestra, court can almost take judicial cognizance of the fact that it will be Gov. John Reynolds, Sen. William Proxmire, Rep. William Van Pelt and other state officers."

Obviously, the question is state officers.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Dorrell, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Dorrell, Ph.D.

WILL PSYCHOLOGY ENABLE YOU TO JUDGE OTHERS BETTER? YES ☐ NO ☐

No, says Dutch psychologist John Kremers. He found that majors in psychology were not better able to make reliable judgments about others than those who majored in the classics or the natural sciences. Psychology could be so taught that it might help considerably in enabling people to judge others; perhaps Prof. Kremers merely proved that the psychology in his school was not adequate.

Let your children know what you expect.

Do, by all means. When children know what is expected of them they are less tempted to test their limits. There is less friction between parents and children when everyone understands the family rules. Children can learn to take their responsibilities as naturally as they do their homework. Parents then can enjoy their children as helpers rather than considering the children as work-masters.

This is the theme of an important new booklet entitled "What Should Parents Expect From Children." To get your copy, send 25 cents and your name and address to "Let's Explore Your Mind," in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent. Please allow approximately three weeks for delivery.

Will your marriage be a happy and successful one? Now you can better your chances and pre-determine your own marital happiness by taking the "Success in Marriage Tests." ## Live Within Your Income

Teen-Agers Ought to Know

Family Financial Status

BY MARY FEELEY

Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: How do you feel about letting the children in a family sit in on financial discussions? Ours are 13 and 15½ years old, and are convinced that when their father or I say we can't afford something that we're just being stingy. Their constant refrain is "The other kids have it, why can't we?"

I think maybe my husband and I should give them a better picture of what we have to live on. However, I suspect my husband is afraid he'll lose a certain status as a "good provider" if he's completely frank about his income, debts, expenses, etc. even though he makes an average or better income. Do you think we'd be wise in going into financial details with the children?

Mrs. W. N., Dallas

Dear Mrs. N.: I do, indeed. Have you, by any chance, looked through some of the money management text books now being used in many high school courses? The intricate details of contracts, interest, installment buying and mortgages are daily teen age fare! You might be surprised to discover that your 15-year-old could help you balance your budget. Accept the fact that young people are expected to grasp the financial facts of life at an early age these days. And so much the better, I say. You're doing them no favor by trying to "protect" them from knowledge they're going to need all their lives.

And why should your husband suffer any loss of status? He's doing the best he can for his family, which is all you'll ever ask of your children. A man's income can be governed by so many factors—what he started out with, opportunities for investment that may have fallen in his lap, the type of work he does, the temperament he was born with, the spending habits of his family. There's no more reason to compare his income with that of the neighbors than to compare the size shirt he wears with that of some other man. And make sure you put this fact across to his children.

I believe you'll find your teenagers will react favorably to complete honesty on your part. When they really understand what it takes to keep a family going, they'll find logic rather than stinginess in the statement: "We can't afford it."

Dear Miss Feeley: I took out an automobile loan of $2,000 at a bank, at the rate of 4½ per cent and ¼ per cent for insurance for the time period of three years.

As I figure it, I should pay $85 interest a year and $10 for insurance. That would come to $95 for three years. But the bank is charging me $340 for that period. Please let me know if the bank is right or if I am.

E. B. Hempstead, N. Y.

Dear E. B.: Your figures indicate you have calculated this loan at simple interest rates, assuming the loan to be paid off in one single payment at the end of the three years. This would make your figures correct—as the formula is to multiply the true annual interest rate by the amount of the loan, and then by the number of years you owe it. In your case you figured 4½ per cent times $2,000 times 3 years, arriving at $340.

The fact that the bank is charging you $340 in interest you understand this transaction.

Outagamie YGOP Will Meet July 28

A specially scheduled meeting of the Outagamie County Young Republicans will be held at 8 p.m. July 28 at the Conway Hotel. State Sen. Gerald D. Lorge, of the 14th district, will be the featured speaker. Lorge is chairman of the Committee on Labor, Taxation, Insurance and Banking. He will discuss his views of "Business and Government."

for the three years indicates that your loan is a 4½ per cent "add-on" automobile installment loan. Did you actually receive $2,000 and are you now paying monthly installments of $85? If this is so, then your loan cannot be figured by the same method used for computed simple interest charges. The "add-on" or discount methods of handling money represent a discount rate and is not a true annual interest rate. You are charged a percentage of the whole amount borrowed, which is added on to the amount of the loan you want, and is deducted from the cash advanced to you at the time you borrow.

The clue to your question as to who is right, the bank or you, depends on whether you received a simple interest loan or an "add-on" loan. With this type of loan in hand, why don't you stop in to see your banker and ask him for his explanation? It's his job to see that charging you $340 in interest you understand this transaction.

Table Tennis Stunt Needs Control, Fast Thinking

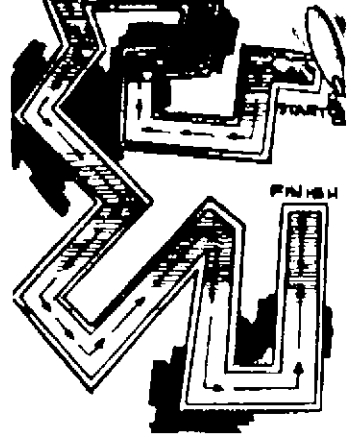

BY CAPPY DICK

You can work this fun-project on a card table.

Cover the table with sheets of newspaper pasted together to make a single piece. With crayons lay out a course on the paper similar to that shown in the adjoining picture.

The outside edges of the course should be drawn with red crayon. The red lines should be an inch away from the edges of the main path running between them. The main path should be outlined with black crayon and should be only a trifle wider than the diameter of a table tennis ball.

Place the ball at the starting point. Then fan it with a table tennis paddle to move it forward. The object is to cause the ard. The object is to cause the ball to travel over the entire course without once touching the red lines.

Real skill is required to accomplish this. Take all the time you need in moving the ball forward. The best technique is to advance the ball very slowly and to be prepared to fan it gently from one side or the other as well as from the rear.

It is against the rules of the game to touch the ball once it has been started along the path, except to pick it up and return it to the course if it rolls off to the floor.

Dear Dr. Jones: We suddenly have a problem with our six-year-old daughter that we don't know how to handle. She refuses to stay with a babysitter because she says she's afraid someone will come in the house if we aren't there and will steal her

How do we cope with a wild idea like that? Nothing we have tried has convinced her she's safe, and I'd like to go out with my husband occasionally.

MRS. W.
It isn't uncommon for little girls this age to feel so jealous and hostile toward their mothers that they wish they'd vanish. Rather than admitting such a wish to herself, your daughter has probably hidden it and translated it into a fear that she will disappear.

Help her bring her fantasies into the open where she can deal with them. Make occasion to mention that you bet she must be angry and jealous because she isn't grown up yet. Ask your husband to mention that he's happy to have such a nice little girl

As your daughter becomes convinced that she's only a little girl but that she's loved as she is, she'll stop trying to replace you and stop being afraid you'll treat her the same way. In the meantime, continue to hire a babysitter and to go out with your husband. Anything else would confuse and terrify your daughter by making her think she really can separate you two.

Send your problems, questions, comments, and suggestions to Dr. Eve Jones, in care of Appleton Post-Crescent. She replies personally to all letters accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

85 Killed, Over 100 Skokie Police Passengers Hurt in Portuguese Wreck

Uncoupled Railway Car Plunges Over Embankment

OPORTO, Portugal (AP)—A speeding railway car packed with holidaymakers on the way home from the beach came uncoupled Sunday night, ricocheted back and forth on rails beside the track and overturned down an embankment.

Hospital sources said 85 passengers were killed and more than 100 injured. It was the worst disaster in the history of the privately owned Portuguese Railway Co.

The company ordered a commission of three engineers to investigate the derauling near Custodias, about 14 miles from Oporto.

A company spokesman said the rear unit of the two-car diesel train snapped its couplings, jumped the track and "carried down a section of track flanked by walls, slamming back and forth between them."

Passengers Crashed

"It dropped from the embankment and turned over where the walls came to an end," he added.

The impact destroyed one side of the steel and wood car, crushing passengers as it caved in.

Witnesses said the rear unit

Hunt Thief of Girl's Body

Mutilated Corpse Found Abandoned In Evanston Alley

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP)—Police hunted today for a night-rooming ghoul who stole the body of a 14-year-old girl from its mother, then abandoned it slashed and naked in an alley.

The body of Theresa Koertgen was taken Saturday night from a Skokie funeral home by an intruder who broke in through a window.

Some 20 hours later, an Evanston motorist nearing his garage in the early hours saw the body in the alley behind his home.

Dress Found

Later Sunday, a long-sleeved yellow dress believed to be the one in which the girl had been laid out for burial was found in an alley on the north side of Chicago.

Capt. Edward Caulfield, head of the Skokie police force, described the crime, technically only a burglary, as "unbelievable in this day and age." The theft and mutilation of the corpse pointed to a demented man, he said.

Two Questioned

Police questioned and cleared two men, one a 16-year-old acquaintance of the girl and the other a man seen loitering around the funeral parlor.

Theresa was the daughter of Leo Koertgen, an auto sales firm executive. She lived with her mother, Margaret, who was divorced from her father.

The girl died Wednesday in Skokie Valley Community Hospital after collapsing Tuesday in a Skokie swimming pool. An autopsy showed she died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Hoffa, 6 Others Guilty Of Pension Fund Fraud

Could Get 20 Years and $11,000 Fine

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury deliberated for three days and found Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and six others guilty Sunday of a massive scheme to defraud the $380-million union pension fund.

Hoffa, a trustee of the pension fund, was convicted on four counts of fraud and conspiracy and faces 20 years in prison and an $11,000 fine.

Each codefendant was found guilty of at least one fraud charge and one of conspiracy.

The indictment included 20 mail fraud charges and one conspiracy charge.

The men specifically were convicted of fraudulently arranging more than $20 million in loans from the pension fund and diverting more than $1 million to their own use.

Kennedy Leads Jury

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy hailed the decision and congratulated the jury and prosecutors in a statement from his summer home in Hyannis Port, Mass.

Hoffa faces a maximum sentence of $1,000 fine and five years on each of the fraud counts and $10,000 and five years on the conspiracy count.

"It stinks. It was a guessing game on the part of the jury," said Hoffa's attorney, Maurice Walsh. Hoffa refused to answer newsmen's questions.

The courtroom defeat may mean the end of Hoffa's reign as head of the Teamsters.

Source in Washington said his latest conviction could "begin to speed up the alliance making" among other top Teamsters officials.

It was Hoffa's fifth federal prosecution since 1957—and his.

Names of the four men aboard were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Race Tension At Rochester Quiets Down

BY ROBERT T. GRAY

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—This riot-scarred city emerged today from a bloody weekend of racial violence with four dead, in accidents. There were hundreds of injured and massive property damage. An uneasy peace was backed by a combat-ready force of National Guardsmen.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller activated 1,000 guardsmen and ordered them into Rochester to stand by for anti-riot duty if needed.

"Law and order will be maintained in the city of Rochester," the governor declared.

The detachment of 12 open trucks with 18 guardsmen each toured the city's trouble areas in a show of force shortly after the arrival of the guard Sunday night. The men carried rifles with bayonets fixed but had no ammunition.

Copter Crashes

Three persons were killed and a county official was injured critically Sunday when a helicopter surveying a potential trouble spot smashed into a three-story house and set it afire.

A man was killed by an automobile when he was struck during wild rioting Saturday night in the height of the racial explosion and staggered into the street. Two men were shot. One was in critical condition.

More than 600 persons nearly all Negroes were arrested. More than 300 other persons were injured, including 25 police officers and several firemen.

Expansion in U. S., Abroad
Accounts for Record Amount

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark will replace more distant company spent a record $43 million for capital expenditures during fiscal 1964, company president John R. Kimberly said today.

He made the announcement in the firm's annual report on the expenditures were for expansion into promising growth areas for paper products in the United States and foreign countries, he said.

Major company projects include:

- Construction of a large pulp and paper plant at Anderson, Calif. Kimberly said the plant is scheduled to begin producing papers for the western market by December.
- Construction of a plant using a new pulping process and utilizing hardwoods at Niagara Magnafite Pulp Mill.
- Opening of a magnafite pulp mill at Kapuskasing, Ontario, the first of its kind in North America. The new process improves pulp strength and paper quality, he said.

Young John wandered away from his family's trailer at Harden Lake campsite July 18 wearing only a thin T-shirt, jeans and leather shoes.

Rangers Gil Hall and Jim Reilly found him Saturday afternoon about three miles from the camp. About 350 men had joined in an air and ground search.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ireland had lost hope and were getting ready to break pushed back into the front seats camp and return home when they learned that John had been found.

President Conducts Group on Tour of White House Grounds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Approximately 200 tourists had an unexpected surprise Sunday—a tour of the White House grounds conducted by President Johnson.

After the Johnsons returned to the White House from church services, the President saw a group standing outside a gate of the White House grounds. He shook hands with some, then invited them into the grounds for a walk. About 100 tourists joined him.

Then he walked to another gate and invited about 100 more to join in the walk. After a stroll around the grounds, the President said he had to go to lunch and the tourists departed.

Ranger 7 Readied for New Attempt To Send Earth Pictures of Moon

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The United States is to launch the Ranger 7 spacecraft today on a quarter-million-mile journey to the moon to take thousands of pictures and hopefully end six years of frustration for American lunar shots.

An Atlas-Agena rocket is to blast skyward in a favorable launching period between 11:32 a.m. and 1:42 p.m. Eastern Standard Time. Thunderstorms were forecast but officials hoped they would hold off until later in the day.

Maneuvers Mapped

The flight plan called for the 600-pound spacecraft to execute several intricate maneuvers and crash-land on the moon Thursday morning after a 66½-hour, 230,000-mile trip.

Sixteen hours after launching a ground station is to send a radio signal to fire a payload motor and jockey the craft into a collision course with the moon.

If Ranger 7 succeeds, it will break a string of 12 straight moon launching failures dating less than a mile in diameter.

The launching is the Ranger 7 failed to transmit pictures last February, although it hit the moon.

The record has seriously hindered the gathering of data for locating possible astronaut landing areas and for designing the Apollo spacecraft in which they will ride.

In a 13-minute 40-second session before Ranger 7's lunar landing, its six television cameras are to snap more than 4,000 pictures and transmit them to Goldstone, Calif., for processing.

The cameras were geared to operate from an altitude of 1,130 miles to the moment before impact.

Space agency officials said the close-up photos might enable analysts to distinguish objects on the moon the size of an automobile. Astronomers using the best earth-based telescopes can't distinguish features much less than a mile in diameter. Scientists hoped to maneuver Ranger 7 to an area west of the moon's center, on the left as seen from earth where lighting presently is most favorable. The goal was to obtain pictures of Maria, large dark areas which appear to be relatively flat and thus possible astronaut landing spots.

The precise landing point is to be determined after Ranger 7 is airborne.

Stop Before Impact

The spacecraft was fitted with two wide-angle cameras and four with narrow angles.

The larger area cameras were designed to stop clicking 25 seconds before the 5100-mile-an-hour impact and the final frames would record areas ranging from one-half mile to 3½ square miles. The narrow angle cameras were to stop two-tenths of a second before the landing, about 1750 feet from the moon and show areas 4,300 and 37,500 square feet.

Girl to Attend Methodist Convocation

CLINTONVILLE—Miss Ellen Kassike, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Kassike, will be a delegate to the Eighth National Convocation of Methodist Youth to be held on the campus of Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., Monday through Friday.

Miss Kassike will join a busload of youths representing the eastern half of the state of Wisconsin. A total of 5,000 youth and adult leaders are expected to attend the convocation, which is sponsored by the National Conference of the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

The theme of the conference will be "The Meaning of the Christian Gospel for Teen-Agers of the Twentieth Century."

The Rev. Mr. Kassike, pastor of the First Methodist Church here, also will attend the convocation where he will serve as a group leader.

After each day's general presentation, the convocation will be divided into 300 small discussion groups to discuss meanings and implications of the presentation.

Playground Equipment has been constructed south of the Bucholtz Park, Clintonville, and adjacent to the wading pool and Municipal swimming pool. Swings, slides, monkey bars and spring-mounted horses provide plenty of opportunity for play for the youngsters. (Laib Photo)

Brillion Firm Holds Annual Sales Meeting

BRILLION—The annual sales meeting of Ariens Co., Brillion, manufacturers of power lawn and garden equipment, took place at Maxwellton Braes, Balleys Harbor, last week.

At the meeting were 12 sales representatives from all parts of the United States and Canada; two representatives of a market research firm; two advertising agency representatives and eight Ariens Co. management employees.

Purpose of the meeting was to present to the sales representatives the 1964-65 program for the fall and spring Gard-N-Yard product line. William Hoeltke, sales director of the firm, was in charge of the meeting. James Youngworth, advertising manager, assisted Hoeltke.

The sales meeting was climaxed by a picnic for all employees of the company at the Brillion Conservation Club grounds Thursday afternoon. At the picnic were about 150 people, including those participating in the sales meeting.

Waupaca Stores Plan Sidewalk Fair Event

WAUPACA — A Sidewalk Fair featuring reduced prices and bargains at Waupaca stores will be held August 5.

The Association of Commerce sponsored activity will be preceded by a special tabloid publication listing bargains.

As an added attraction, salespeople in the stores will be wearing unusual clothing or costumes in the spirit of the promotion.

Announce Winners in Brillion Pet Parade

BRILLION — Winners in the Brillion city recreation department's "Pet Parade" Thursday morning have been announced by Lorraine Zeamer, coordinator.

The winners are: Live animal division: Sandy and Steve Miller, friendliest dog; Steve Mickle, blackest dog; Diane Koffarnus, best led dog; Dave Mickle, best bound dog; Marla, Wanda, Wayne, Merlin Wieting, best dog, overall; Vicki Detert, best cat; Jill Bodwin, smallest rabbit; and Kathy Dvorak, trickiest rabbit.

Winners in the stuffed animal division were: Carol Konyha, best walking dog; Lynn McMunn, best acrobatic teddy bear; Linda Schwanke, cuddliest teddy bear; David Schwanke, brightest-eyed monster (gorilla); Marla Wieting, smallest dog; Roberta Boyer, blackest dog; Debbie Boyer, reddest dog; Jane Koehler, most purple rabbit; Ginger Rowland, cutest dog; Cheri Koffarnus, most blue bear; Cheri Steinfest, best-seeing cat; Gail Steinfest, most brown rabbit; and Debbie Steinfest, most colorful frog.

Fete Leeman Girl At Bridal Shower

LEEMAN — A bridal shower was held in the home of Mrs. Harland Greeley last week in honor of Miss Donna Mae Guyette, whose marriage to Carlton Fields will take place in August.

A buffet luncheon was served. Mrs. Harland Gunderson and Mrs. Kenneth Fields were hostesses.

Wolf River Seaplane Base Being Proposed

Facility Would be Constructed at Orthula Resort South of Fremont

FREMONT — A new seaplane base has been proposed for the Wolf River near here to relieve the present shortage of such facilities in the area.

Federal Aeronautics Commission officials met recently with Earl Boylan, owner of the Orthula Resort, to discuss the proposed base.

The resort, located four miles south of here, has a wind sock, weather vane and other facilities to accommodate planes landing on the ice of the Wolf River.

Directional wind speed indicators, barometric readings and airplane gasoline service would be added to the proposed base. New facilities also will include walking ramps leading from the taxiing area to shore.

Coded air view signals have been used in recent years as an aid to pilots flying in during the winter months. The signals tell the thickness of the ice and the landing conditions caused by the snow covering.

The new seaplane base, if constructed, will be located on the Green Bay area maps. Weekend seaplane rides are being planned, with Harlan Neumann, Appleton, serving as pilot.

Clintonville Lutherans Set Evangelism Mission

CLINTONVILLE — A Preaching - Teaching - Reaching Mission is scheduled for the nights of Sept. 27-30 at Christus Lutheran Church.

The guest speaker will be the Rev. Ralph Baumback, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Waukegan.

Committee chairmen for the PTR mission are Ivan Rohrer, general and visitation chairman; Emory Knitt, prayer; Earl Arndt, publicity; and Miss Willadean Channing, youth.

Wisconsin Relief Corps To Hold Sunday Picnic

NEW LONDON — The Wisconsin Relief Corps will hold its annual picnic at the Grand Army home in King, Sunday.

The Relief Corp is the oldest patriotic organization, its purpose to perpetuate the memory of the Civil War.

Birmamwood Pastor to Conduct Services at Wittenberg Church

WITTENBERG — The Rev. Carl Musalloff of Birmamwood will conduct the morning worship Sunday in Redeemer Lutheran Church in the absence of the Rev. Myron Halleen, pastor.

Pastor Halleen and his family are spending a month's vacation on Washington Island, where he formerly was pastor.

In case of emergency, members of the parish have been asked to contact either Carl Larsen, congregation president; Robert Alberg, chairman of the board of deacons; or Arthur Larson, chairman of the board of trustees.

The Dangers in the City

The current riots in New York and various degrees of unrest in other cities are caused in part by the racial tensions that afflict the entire nation. But the problems inherent in living in large metropolitan areas are many and varied. And the World Health Organization, an agency of the United Nations, warns that the tremendous growth of urban areas, particularly in the newly developing nations, may reach "catastrophic dimensions" within the next 20 years.

The way the urban areas are growing, the WHO reports, may mean "a far greater possibility of disaster than the Industrial Revolution in the temperate zone a century ago." The trouble is that the problems are more than doubled when they erupt in tropical and subtropical zones where many metropolises are mushrooming.

There are two major reasons for the growth of urban areas. One is the simple matter of the population explosion. At the present rate and if there is no major life-taking catastrophe, the world's population will be more than six billion by the year 2000. And a higher percentage of the growth is taking place in the undeveloped nations. They have had a tradition of many children and little if any birth control knowledge. Improved health conditions in the care of mothers and infants and in general living situations mean that more survive but the people of these countries have not yet reached the stage of deciding to have fewer children.

The second reason for the urban growth is the continued move to the cities for improved employment opportunities. Increased efficiency on farms has been partly responsible since less people are needed to grow just as much. But in part, poor living on small farms is also responsible and with the improved methods of transportation and less reliance upon old traditions, tribal and village ties, people move to the cities. Only about 10 per cent of the world's population will be on farms by the end of the century if the trend continues.

But unfortunately the mushrooming cities are unable to take care of the swelling populations either with adequate employment or housing. In the tropics and subtropics the problems are increased by the deteriorating health conditions due to overcrowding, low wages, poor nutrition and the absence of sanitary facilities. It is not the good homes and clean apartments that are growing in number; it is the shack slums on the outskirts of the metropolis. And the appearance in many of the areas of a mosquito which breeds in contaminated water and which produces filariasis—its more extreme form is called elephantiasis—has been proof of the filth.

There are other nuisances of urban living even for those who have adequate housing and clean water. The increase in noise takes its toll. Air pollution increases from both automobile and heating fuels. The anonymity of city living endangers the mental health of people used to the closeness of family and village life.

WHO suggests far more planning in the growth of the cities. It suggests suburbs where pollution producing fuels are banned, central heating plants which can better control air pollution and green belt areas. But there are unlikely to be many of these advantages. The immigration to the cities is coming too fast and the governments of the new nations are busy with hundreds of other matters if, in fact, they are even really concerned.

Water Safety

These hot summer days have resulted in a heavy run on swimming pools and beaches in the Fox Valley.

It is interesting to note, however, that few serious accidents have resulted among the untold thousands—all because of a small number of dedicated persons who wear a badge with a red cross.

Red Cross-trained water safety specialists—life guards, teachers and aides—are part of one of the most efficiently trained and highly organized groups interested in making our water fun spots safe.

Red Cross-trained personnel not only are on duty at municipal swimming pools but at selected beach sites and wherever a swimming instruction program is held.

Their work is a result of long hours they have spent learning how to assist swimmers in distress, teaching swimming and basic rules of water safety.

Swimmer supervision does not consist only of "life guarding."

Some 25 Red Cross personnel are teaching nearly 1,300 rural Outagamie County youngsters how to swim.

Latin American Population Boom

The United States sponsored Alliance for Progress by which grants and loans are made available to Latin American countries making definite efforts to improve their economic and social systems is costing this nation a lot of money. Now come some statistics to indicate that it will take more than money to help most Latin American countries. Their present rate of population growth is outstripping all the assistance.

Red China and India are increasing at about two per cent a year but the highest population increases in the world are among the nine South American nations in the tropical zone. Bolivia, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Venezuela and the Guianas are growing at an average of 3.2 per cent a year.

The reasons are the same as elsewhere—high birth rates and a drop in mortality rates due to improved living conditions and new discoveries. But while there have been some improvements due to U. S. aid, it looks as if the program will be self-defeating, at least for the near future. By 1966, this section of Latin America will have doubled its population.

Confederate Proposals for Peace

100 YEARS AGO
Ousted from the Appleton Crescent for July 26, 1864.

A telegraphic dispatch from Niagara Falls states that an interview has taken place between Messrs. Clay, Thompson and Holcomb, who claim to be commissioners from the rebel government, to seek terms of peace, and Horace Greeley, authorized by President Lincoln to act in the matter.

The Hon. C. C. Clay is an ex-U.S. Senator from Alabama; Hon. Jacob Thompson, of Mississippi, an ex-Secretary of the Interior.

The Commissioners proposed a restoration of the Union in status quo upon this basis: 1st. All Negroes which have been actually freed by the war, to be secured in such freedom.

2nd. All Negroes at present held as slaves to remain so.

parties to be paid by the United States.

4th. The old doctrine of States Rights be recognized in reconstructing the Union.

This proposition was laid before Mr. Lincoln by Mr. Greeley. The President immediately telegraphed to Mr. G. the terms upon which he would propose a settlement and reconstruction, to wit:

The full and complete restoration of the Union in all its territorial integrity; the abandonment of slavery by the seceded States under conditions which should, while respecting the property rights of all loyal men, afford ample security against another war in the interest of slavery.

After considerable correspondence between parties, it was concluded to refer the matter back to the two governments for reconsideration.

25 YEARS AGO

Several Appleton swimmers placed in various events at the water carnival at Ontario. Paul Nelson won three first places in the midget division and Paul Mauthe won second place in the same events in the junior division—75-yard free style swim, side stroke event and diving competition. Edward Hopfensperger placed second in the senior men's diving competition and Jean Nelson won first in the aquaplane contest and third place in side stroke event. Audrey Johnson won second and third places in senior women's events.

Dr. A. W. Zwerg was appointed chairman of the inter-club committee of Appleton Lions Club. Assisting him were Clarence Turney, Dewey Zwicker and Matt Schaefer.

Goldwater Plans Major Attack On McNamara Defense Policies

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

Senator Barry Goldwater is readying a blockbuster attack on Johnson administration defense policies that is certain to reverberate stormily throughout the presidential campaign.

The Republican standard-bearer will flatly charge that overall U.S. nuclear destructive power has declined approximately one-third in the past three years.

In hurling this sensational accusation, Goldwater will stress that since 1961 there has been an actual increase in the number of nuclear weapons. But, at the same time, the over-all megaton power of the nation's nuclear arsenal has steadily decreased—and is continuing to do so.

This profoundly significant armament change is due primarily, he will assert, to the shift from B-47 nuclear-armed bombers to missiles and rockets.

Under the policy initiated by Defense Secretary McNamara, with the approval of the late President Kennedy and concurring assent by President Johnson, B-47s are steadily being phased out and mothballed. They are being replaced with Minutemen and Polaris missiles, armed with considerably smaller nuclear warheads. In some instances as much as 50 per cent less destructive power than B-47 weapons.

In assailing the Democratic Administration's nuclear weapons policy, Goldwater will renew his blunt challenge earlier this year of the "reliability" of intercontinental and other ballistic missiles.

This blast evoked furious controversy in military and political circles that is still echoing. It is authoritatively understood Goldwater proposes to directly relate his contention of the "unreliability" of missiles to his denunciation of the large-scale decrease in over-all megaton striking power.

WHAT'S BEHIND IT — A major basis of his forthcoming bombshell is unpublished testimony of Major General Austin Betts, former director of the Military Application Division of the Atomic Energy Commission, before the Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee.

Behind the closed doors of this committee, of which the Republican presidential nominee is a member, Betts made the following highly revealing statement:

"The nuclear weapons stockpile (of the country) is significantly smaller today than it was in 1961, if one measures its size in available megatons of equivalent explosive energy."

While the over-all total of megatons is among the most closely guarded defense secrets, it can be reported that Betts informed the Senate committee it has declined by one-third since 1961; that is, the "equivalent explosive energy" of U.S. nuclear weapons has been reduced by approximately 33 1-3 per cent.

Betts explained that in a large measure this is due to the administration's policy of "retiring" from the stockpile many "large-yield" nuclear weapons, such as those designed for the B-47 bombers Secretary McNamara is shelving.

Goldwater is carefully studying Betts' illuminating testimony. One problem is how to discuss it publicly without disclosing classified information.

It is also the GOP standard-bearer's intention to forcefully demand that President Johnson abandon current negotiations with Russia for a so-called "bomber bonfire," in which the U.S. and Russia, as part of a disarmament move, would burn a specified number of bombers—B-47s and their Soviet equivalent.

Goldwater will also vigorously assail other key administration defense policies, among them:

The proposed suspension or reduction of the output of nuclear materials. This is one of the major proposals under discussion at the East-West disarmament conference in Geneva. Goldwater wants these negotiations halted immediately.

The 40 per cent cutback in plutonium production over the next four years ordered by the President in January. Goldwater considers this move a serious defense impairment and wants it halted forthwith.

Permitting Soviet scientists to visit strategic U.S. nuclear centers, such as Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Los Alamos, N.M. These trips are part of an exchange program. The Republican nominee views them as wholly undesirable.

Goldwater will also renew his denunciation of the nuclear test ban treaty, negotiated by the late President Kennedy, which Goldwater voted against.

He will charge that since this pact has been in effect, the Soviet has successfully tested a 6,000-mile ballistic missile capable of delivering a 50-to-60 megaton bomb—an irrefutable evidence that Russia is increasing both number of its missiles and the magnitude of their warheads.

Former President Eisenhower will support Goldwater's explosive challenge in a nationwide TV-radio address. The one-time NATO commander has discussed that with the GOP presidential candidate.

Wisconsin Report

Reynolds Sets Tempo for 'Hot' Campaign in Goldwater Remarks

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It will be a long and hot summer in Wisconsin politics.

Before the Republican national convention Gov. Reynolds, the titular leader of Wisconsin Democrats, allowed that the political campaign of the year would be a "mean and bitter" one.

The governor might have been disclosing unconsciously his own plans for participation in it, for scarcely had Wisconsin statehouse correspondents returned from the national convention of the Republicans in San Francisco than he was telling them that nominee Barry Goldwater is "very dangerous man" with a "messiah complex," probably determined to impose a dictatorship upon this country.

Then he recalled, as if fearing that the analogy was not clear enough to the reporters—at least some of whom may have turned up to discuss state government affairs immediately within the governor's jurisdiction—the rise of Hitler in Germany and the horrors attending.

VITUPERATIVE

It is a commonplace that politicians striving for election or re-election scarcely ever seriously believe all of the arguments and complaints they submit for public consumption.

Yet the vituperative quality of the governor's remarks must cause some surprise, even among his friends. They appear out of character for a man otherwise even-tempered and given to a tolerance of the opposition's views. There is a temptation to believe that they might have been delivered impetuously, on an uncomfortably hot day in the old state Capitol where the thick stone walls retain heat stubbornly.

ABLE POLITICIAN

But the governor is an accomplished political craftsman. He knows what he is going to say when he meets reporters regularly and at weekly intervals. A couple of weeks ago there was some ill-considered speculation that Mr. Reynolds was avoiding the press when he had missed a couple of his conferences in succession because he was out on the campaign trail. The fact is that Reynolds has exploited the news conference more effectively than any of his predecessors. This is at least in part due to the fact that reporters have tended to become pliant listeners rather than interrogators.

The governor's savage indictment of the leader of the opposition party may inspire some questions in the minds of voters, whatever their partisan predilections, about the legitimate boundaries of political debate.

THE LIMITS?

Liberals sometimes in the past have complained that there should be a kind of fair campaign practices auditing instrument to restrict denunciation and character assassination.

It may be wondered what an objective jury would conclude about the propriety of the governor's public insinuation about the mental health and the patriotism of the chosen leader of the opposition party.

The curiosity may be the greater when it is recalled that Mr. Reynolds got his feet wet in politics as one of the young liberals who were so horrified at what they called the excesses of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy only a few years earlier.

The reactions to this episode will probably be several. First and most obviously, they will tempt the Republican campaigners to retaliate in kind. Second, in all probability, they will encourage the governor's opponents in the state election campaign to believe that he is worried about the Wisconsin election, in spite of all of his protestations of confidence that President Johnson will lead his whole ticket to victory. A revelatory clue was his guess that the number of ardent Goldwater campaigners in his native Brown County will outnumber the Reynolds campaigners by 100 to 1.

Twain Wouldn't Have Made Best Dressed List

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I have no objection to the annual stunt of the Custom Tailors Guild in selecting the "best dressed men in the country," or in any country, but I think it is suggestive that no person of any enduring consequence is included on such lists.

There is usually a sports figure, a dancing instructor, a band leader, a song writer, a politician, and, for social cachet, a stock-broker. It may be denied or deplored by the Custom Tailors, but is historically true that men of genuine distinction rarely care, or even know, what they are wearing most of the time.

Lincoln once walked into a Washington shop, asking for socks. The clerk said, "What color?" Lincoln didn't know. Finally, he stooped down and pulled up the cuffs of his trousers, saying, "I guess this color is good enough for me."

The clerk looked for the sock and saw — bare skin. Mark Twain often used to go visiting without a collar or tie. His prissy wife objected strenuously to this habit, and, meeting him one day returning from a neighborly visit without a collar or tie, scolded him.

When Twain reached home, he wrapped up a collar and tie and sent them to his neighbor's house, with a note: "A little while ago, I visited you without my collar and tie for about a half-hour. The missing articles are enclosed. Will you kindly gaze at them for 30 minutes and then return them to me?"

Heywood Brown was notorious for his disreputable attire, and was fondly known as the "one-man slum."

George Kaufman once remarked that Brown "looks like an unmade bed." During the first World War, Brown and some other war correspondents were presented to Gen. Pershing in Paris. Pershing took one look at the corpulent dandy, and anxiously inquired, "Have you fallen down, Mr. Brown?"

H. G. Wells had trouble fitting hats to his rather large and eccentrically-shaped head. Once he put on a hat by mistake which fitted him so nicely that he walked off with it, and then penned this note to its owner, E. S. Peck of Cambridge:

"I stole your hat," confessed Wells. "I like your hat. I shall keep your hat. Whenever I look inside it, I shall think of you and of your excellent sherry and of the town of Cambridge. I take off your hat to you!"

Exhortations to Respect Law Do Little Good

Authorities Must Halt Abuse of Right To Demonstrate

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Placitudes and exhortations deploring violence and urging respect for "law and order" will do little good in race conflicts such as have broken out recently in the big cities. The situation will be helped only when President Johnson and state executives, like New York's Governor Rockefeller, begin to brush aside their political sensitivity and start coming to grips with the root of the whole problem—the abuse of the so-called right of public demonstration.

A dispatch over the wires of the UPI last Saturday afternoon tells in a nutshell the story of what's happening and why. It reads as follows:

"New York — A Negro group led by an admitted Communist today went ahead with plans for a Harlem rally despite orders from the police commissioner prohibiting demonstrations by the group.

"The Harlem Defense Council is led by William Epton, who says he is a Communist and recently taunted police by saying 'there is nothing they can do about political beliefs.' Disorderly Conduct

Epton, who is 32 years old, later was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. He was released on $500 bond and ordered to appear for a hearing on August 7. But in somewhat similar case in the south, the Supreme Court of the United States has found technical reasons for reversing convictions for disorderly conduct and trespassing on private property. And of course, all the Communists keep fully informed about such proceedings and then taunt the police with statements that Communists are "just another political party" and can claim "constitutional rights."

The present Supreme Court has upheld the right to demonstrate but unfortunately has ignored the long-established precedents in which rulings were made that it is unlawful to incite to violence.

There is nothing wrong with demonstrations in a mass meeting held in a hall or an arena, where any person who wishes can attend and listen to speeches. But there is something potentially dangerous about a street demonstration which embitters and offends people whose involvement is involuntary as they happen to be in the area or as their homes are invaded and their places of business are looted.

Ike's Opinion

Former President Eisenhower said in a press conference last year that every group "has a right to bring to the attention of the public its dissatisfactions when its rights are not recognized and allowed to be exercised," but that "when they go to the extent of irritating, exacerbating the situation, then I think we've had a little bit of a step back."

Sensible Leaders

The sensible leaders of the Negro organizations today find themselves hindered by groups that are incited by Communists and other militant organizers who are confident they will not be punished because they can rely on immunity on the "right to demonstrate" as interpreted by the Supreme Court today.

Leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, on the other hand, have begged persons to stay off the streets during critical times in their communities. The Chicago "Defender," a large newspaper of Negro ownership, has just called for a moratorium on demonstrations.

The United Press International a few days ago told of the chairman of the New York State District Committee of the Communist Party being photographed with another Communist as they attended a protest rally at which one leader, Jesse Gray, called for "guerrilla warfare" against the police. Mr. Gray has taken the Fifth Amendment before the House Committee on un-American Activities at least 20 times when asked about his Communist activities.

The head of the NAACP's New York branch is quoted as saying that "The Communists find out who is talking the wildest, and then jump in with them." There are, of course, plenty of "hate" groups without Communist connections, whose instinct is to resort to violence when they become angry.

Supreme Court

When will the Supreme Court, however, see the trend toward wide-spread internal disorder due to its own faulty decisions and become realistic again? When will the phony issue of "police brutality" be dealt with courageously everywhere by the issuance of city ordinances prohibiting all kinds of street demonstrations at a time when public feeling has become so embittered over any issue that violence is inevitable? And in cities where the local police might prove inadequate, why do not the governors mobilize the state militia beforehand at known places of coming trouble, instead of waiting till after the outbreak to take action?

The basic issue cannot be ignored any longer, despite its political embarrassments. For the American people are beginning to see that the looting of stores, with damages running into the millions, has very little to do with the merits of any "civil rights" question, but has everything to do with the age-old problem of crushing crime by any measures of law enforcement deemed necessary to protect life and property.

Goldwater Can Win Wisconsin, Proxmire States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said Sunday Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican nominee for president, "could win in our state" because his campaign is going to be "very enthusiastic, well financed and hard hitting."

"The Republicans have won the state for the presidency ever since 1944," Proxmire told Sen. Kenneth Keating, R-New York, in a television-radio interview.

"I think Mr. Johnson has a good chance to win," Proxmire continued. "The polls show he is ahead. But again, this is very, very hard to say."

Asked whether Goldwater's winning of the GOP presidential nomination would help or hurt his own campaign for re-election, Proxmire replied: "It does both. Goldwater has working her way to an ulcer," a tremendously enthusiastic follow-up.

OAS Sanctions Will Help Johnson Policy

Actions Could Take Some Steam Out of Complaints Against Foreign Programs

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has the problem of trying to take the steam out of Sen. Barry Goldwater's complaints about American foreign policy, particularly on two very sore points: Cuba and Viet Nam.

That he is working at it became clear over the weekend. To bring Fidel Castro tumbling down Goldwater has proposed various remedies, at various times, from backing an exile invasion of Cuba to shutting off non-Communist trade with it, even if it meant blockading with warships.

Sunday the American republics, through their foreign ministers, agreed not only on condemning Cuba for aggression but on approving strong economic and diplomatic sanctions against Castro's regime. The action had strong U.S. backing.

It was the strongest move by a conference of the ministers since Castro grabbed hold of Cuba on Jan. 1, 1959.

One quick way to step up and perhaps end the Communist guerrilla attacks on South Viet Nam would be to extend the war to North Viet Nam. But that might bring Red China directly into the war. The Johnson administration has been reluctant to take the chance.

But Goldwater has said the United States "can and should end the fighting in Viet Nam by taking strong, affirmative action." This is just one of the things he has said. He has offered various suggestions on how to do this, too.

Sunday night The Associated Press said the United States and Viet Nam reportedly are about ready to announce new measures to step up the war.

This story said there has been no indication here as to the exact nature of these new measures.

But, the story said, they will tighter and the Vietnamese war tougher. The mere act of the ministers' agreement won't topple Castro. The American state's agreement on Cuba lets them, alone unlikely any of the American or together, use armed forces against Castro if he continues. It may even be unrealistic to what the ministers officially expect the Latin-American described as aggression and countries which still have diplomatic relations with Cuba to break them off or even to break off all trade with Cuba, at least they'll do since the actual carrying out of the actions approved by the foreign ministers must be the job of the individual governments.

Nevertheless, Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, called the conference action a "body blow to Communist subversion in this hemisphere."

Mann's appointment to his present job was one of the first taken in the foreign administration after he became president last November, and it may turn out to be a good one.

U.S. officials feel this government's sanctions against trade with Cuba have already given Castro acute economic pains. But now the groundwork has been laid for giving him the up of such trade as there is. U.S. officials feel this government's sanctions against trade with Cuba have already given Castro acute economic pains. # Environment Important To Aggressive Conduct

BY PHIL KEIF
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—The northern grasshopper mouse is a born killer. Dr. Clark says, mice and men don't live and let live without the aid of a tranquilizer. And psychiatrist Lincoln D. Clark thinks the same is true for people. Dr. Clark is director of the Behavioral Sciences Laboratory of the University of Utah College of Medicine. The killer mouse is one of his research specialties.

Clark says, mice and men don't live and let live without the aid of a tranquilizer. And psychiatrist Lincoln D. Clark thinks the same is true for people. Dr. Clark is director of the Behavioral Sciences Laboratory of the University of Utah College of Medicine. The killer mouse is one of his research specialties.

Born and bred in the laboratory, it can coexist with his own or alien mice.

"An interesting sequence occurs when the strange mouse is first introduced," Dr. Clark said in an interview.

It immediately approaches and, after sniffing the body of the strange mouse for a few moments, "acts out" the method of attack characteristic of its species, he says.

Gentle Nips

It approaches from the rear, grasps the stranger with front and rear legs, and places its mouth at the base of the skull, even taking a few gentle nips," Dr. Clark said.

"After two or three repetitions of this performance within the first few hours after the stranger's arrival, the behavior disappears, coexistence ensues and the animals share the same nesting area."

But if it is excited or threatened, it will attack. If the quarters are too close, it will attack. If it has had experience in fighting, it will attack.

In fact the more experience and exposure to fighting that it has, the more aggressive it will be, the doctor said.

Live, Let Live

But if it doesn't learn about killing, or isn't frightened, it will live and let live, and be quite content, Dr. Clark said, without neuroses and without tranquilizer pills.

The psychiatrist said his work with this killer mouse is a clear-cut example of what many other researchers have found the past 20 years, both with animals and people, especially children.

He thinks the concept of boiling lava just waiting to erupt Freudian thinking, should be up, he said.

Paris Fashion Designer Heeds Police Warning

PARIS (AP)—Paris fashion designer Louis Feraud headed Saturday an official ban on topless attire for women in public and withdrew a revealing gown from his fall-winter collection.

The gown, a gold lame for evening wear, features an open front that plunges to midboon.

Worn by Shapely Feraud model Madeleine Lerch of Montreal, the gown was photographed in advance of this week's Paris fashion showings.

Feraud showed it off to the public after announcing that he was withdrawing it from his collection to comply with an order issued Thursday by Interior Minister Roger Frey forbidding topless attire in public throughout France.

Shastri Will Visit Washington in May

NEW YORK (AP)—Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India will visit Washington next May, a member of the Indian Cabinet said Saturday.

S. K. Patil, Indian minister of railways, made the disclosure in an interview.

Patil said the visit was modified to emphasize the importance of the environment in triggering aggressive behavior and in fact developing it.

There is an inborn "pattern" of aggressive behavior, per-haps, but it takes a particular stimulus to bring it out and it's not some undercover pool of He thinks the concept of boiling lava just waiting to erupt Freudian thinking, should be up, he said.

Buerger's Exercise
Helpful in Leg Cramps

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about the cause, treatment and symptoms of Buerger's disease.
My husband has the cold hands and feet all the time, and also cramps in his legs.
He uses an electric heating pad on his feet every night.
Will exercise help this condition — MRS. E. K.

the somewhat similar Raynaud's disease. All the same, it sometimes succeeds.
Simple Exercise
Buerger's exercise very often helps. This is really quite simple. The patient lies on his back, then raises and lowers the legs one at a time. Hold it vertical for about a minute, then lower it and raise the other. Repeat several times.
Then do the whole thing again, several times a day.
Readers who have my booklet on "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains" will note that I suggest Buerger's exercise for cramps which have nothing to do with Buerger's disease. Many people, especially in the age bracket of the 50's and beyond, may have quite a bit of trouble with leg cramps, yet not have Buerger's arterial ailment. For them, the exercises, as well as diet changes and sometimes the use of certain medications, help immensely.
For a copy of the booklet, send 20 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner, care of Appleton Post-Crescent.
Dear Dr. Molner: A friend was in a hospital with pericarditis. He is now home but still in bed for two months more. Could you please explain this disease? —MRS. E. L.

Buerger's disease is a disorder of the small arteries of the extremities. A type of inflammation occurs in the walls of these arteries and the consequence is impaired circulation.
Not all cases are alike, and thorough study of each one is necessary. In some cases, you see, there can be a patchy type of obstruction in larger branches of the arteries. When this occurs, naturally, circulation will be impaired farther down, too.
Whichever type is present, the result is similar: coldness, and cramps in the legs. (There are other causes of leg cramps, too.)
Smoking Detrimental
In Buerger's disease particularly, nicotine tends to constrict the small arteries, and when the circulation already is impaired, smoking makes the trouble much worse. The habit should be abandoned completely by anyone with Buerger's disease.
Sometimes drugs can be used with success to dilate the small arteries. Occasionally an operation called lumbar sympathectomy is helpful. This means cutting certain nerves which control the tone of the arteries.
When these nerves are cut, the arteries remain relaxed and can dilate, thus permitting greater circulation, and the feet and hands become warmer. Frankly, this is not successful as often in Buerger's disease as it is in Most heart trouble is understandable on the basis of "how a pump works." The motor running the pump becomes weakened, or the valves which are integral parts of the "pump" don't open or close properly.

Pericarditis is a bit different. The covering of the heart is the pericardium. Pericarditis is an inflammation of that covering. Instead of having an inflamed finger, or inflamed tonsils, or whatever, you have an inflammation of the covering of the heart.
This inflammation may interfere with the operation of the heart. That's the danger, and the reason for the long bed rest which sometimes is required.

Opinion for Mrs. C. A. S.: Yes, the bust-developer claims sound very convincing, but don't get your hopes up. I don't know of any that have done any good.
"Tips On How To Stop Smoking," by Dr. Joseph G. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column when ever possible.

Launch Crew
Simulates
Countdown

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The launch crew ran through a simulated count-down Saturday on an Atlas-Agena rocket being primed to launch the Ranger 7 spacecraft to the moon on Monday.
"Except for a few minor hitches, everything went beautifully," a project official reported after the six-hour exercise. Tons of high-powered kerosene fuel were pumped into the Atlas first stage during the simulation.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said all other preparations were progressing smoothly for the launching, scheduled for a period between 11:32 a.m. and 1:58 p.m. Eastern Standard Time on Monday.

Unfavorable weather could be a problem. Heavy thunderstorms have hit Cape Kennedy for several days in a row about noon, and launch director Robert Gray said more are expected at the same time Monday.
"But the weather is so unpredictable here," Gray said, "that we'll probably count right on down and hope the rains stay away until later in the day."

Ranger 7 packs six television cameras intended to relay to earth thousands of close-up pictures of the lunar landscape.
Success would end six years of frustration during which the United States has tried and failed with 12 moon shots.

Oneida Indian Will
Protest Tribe Vote
For New Chairman

ONEIDA — Results of Saturday's Oneida Tribal council annual election will be protested today by Norbert Hill, the defeated candidate for chairman.
Hill stated he will submit his case to the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Ashland.
He is protesting the 25 absentee votes submitted by Mrs. Irene Moore, the first woman to serve as chairman in the history of the council.
Results of balloting at the close of the election gave Hill a 130 to 111 victory over Mrs. Moore.
However, 23 of the 25 absentee ballots were for Mrs. Moore giving her a 134 to 130 victory.
Hill stated Mrs. Moore turned in all 25 absentee ballots shortly before the polls closed at 6 p.m., and he claimed they had not been notarized and some did not carry signatures.
